Mac Says War Costs In Bounds

Could Go Higher If Action Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Viet Nam war costs are falling within bounds set months ago by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Pentagon officials report.

War spending could surge higher than planned limits at any time, depending on what actions are required against the Communists in Southeast Asia. But officials say operations at present are not exceeding amounts budgeted through June, 1967.

Consume Air Munitions

For example, air munitions were being consumed in January at a rate of $110 million a month. McNamara planned to support "much higher" levels — not otherwise defined — this spring. These higher levels have not been exceeded, officials say.

The United States was using ground munitions at a $100-million-a-month rate at the start of the year. Again, McNamara projected much higher consumption. Officials say, however, actual useage is 40 per cent below the planned levels, perhaps reflecting the let up in ground operations during recent political turbulence.

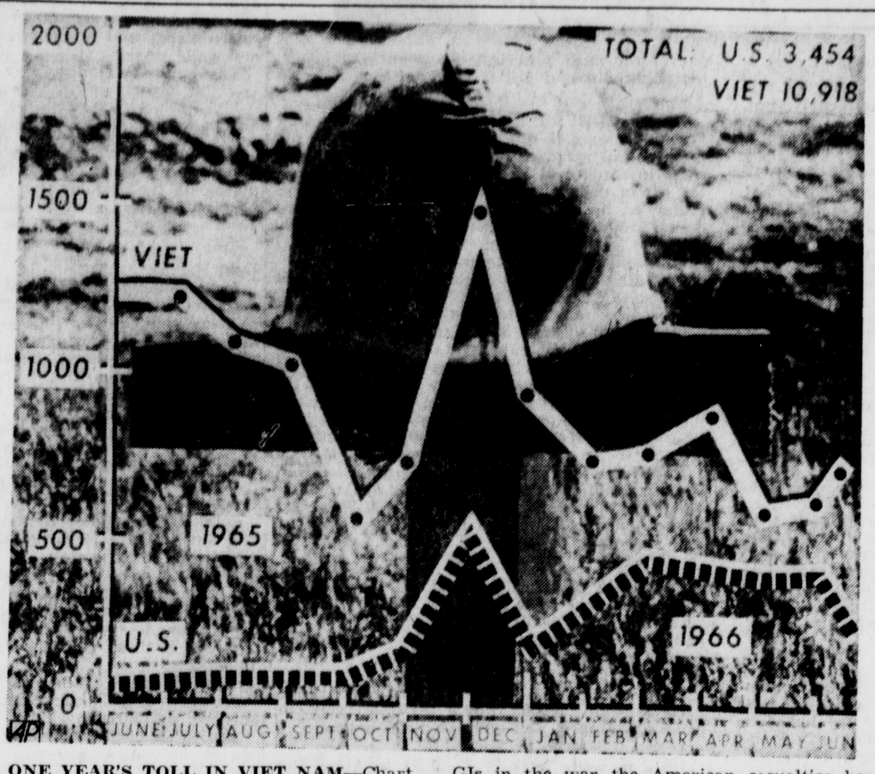

Officials also say aircraft losses are running lower than expected. In recent weeks 15 to 20 per cent fewer helicopters have been downed even though more sorties are being flown than previously planned.

Officials report McNamara is determined to spend what is necessary, but no more, for maintaining U.S. military power.

Wants No Surplus

McNamara frequently tells newsmen he does not intend to come out of the Viet Nam war with a $12-billion surplus of war

Search Still Continuing For Victims of Flaming Plane Crash in Virginia

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Rescue and salvage workers probed a devastated suburban neighborhood here today for possible additional victims from the flaming crash of a Marine Corps attack bomber that hurtled into the area after an in-flight collision Monday.

Hampton police said two persons — a mother and her infant son — died and 40 were injured. Eleven remained hospitalized today.

Find No More

Police Chief L. H. Nicholson said "we have gone through all the destroyed and damaged houses and found no additional bodies. I don't believe we will find any more. We have no reports of missing persons."

Nicholson said "it is a miracle that the death toll was so low."

The low death toll was all the more remarkable in view of the fact the plane crashed when "the majority of the people in the area were at home," the chief said.

Ten of the modest, two-bedroom homes were demolished and 17 others damaged to some degree in the housing development near Buckroe Beach, a Chesapeake Bay resort town.

The two-seater A6 Intruder light bomber plowed into the development at 8:57 p.m. Monday. Seconds earlier, it had collided at 400 miles an hour with another Intruder at 2,000 feet. The other plane fell into the Chesapeake.

Ejected Safely

All of the four Marines aboard the two aircraft ejected safely and landed near the second bomber in Chesapeake Bay off Norfolk. Three were picked up by a Coast Guard helicopter, the fourth by a private boat.

The crash occurred not far from the sprawling Fordham shopping center and the homes of many Air Force and Army men from nearby Langley Air Force Base and Ft. Monroe.

Witnesses said the aircraft came down at a 45-degree angle just off Sergeant street, wher its engine buried itself in a deep crater.

Covered Two Blocks

The wings and portions of the flaming fuselage continued on — with parts of the fuel tanks — for two blocks, mowing down homes as they went and setting some of them on fire. Bits of the plane were found 5 blocks away at the shopping center, where a wheel plunged through the roof of a bowling alley and injured three persons.

Among the dead were Mary Gallant and her 19-month-old son Donald.

Mrs. Gallant's husband was on his way home when the house in which his wife and infant son awaited his arrival was destroyed. Two other Gallant children were visiting neighbors and escaped.

"It looked like a tornado had ripped out a three-block area," said one of the first newsmen at the scene, Bob Williams of the Newport News Daily Press. "People were walking around in a daze."

Mrs. A. L. Angle, who lives 100 yards from the spot the plane hit, was in the den with her husband.

"We heard an explosion," she

Ky Soldiers Seize Buddhist's Leader

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's soldiers seized the extremist Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang in his hospital room in Hue today. The slight, robed monk walked out of the building on the 14th day of his hunger strike.

With the four-month Buddhist uprising fast crumbling under the military junta's firmness, Tri Quang's chief rival the moderate Thich Tam Chau, appealed to Ky to "assure the life and liberty of the venerable Tri Quang and all other monks who led the struggle" against the regime.

Reports circulated in Saigon that Tri Quang, 42, would be brought to the capital. A police officer in Hue said he had been put in protective custody to shield him from the Viet Cong.

The government's action against the chief of the Buddhist struggle movement showed its confidence that it had all but smashed the militant Buddhist minority's campaign for an immediate restoration of civilian rule.

In Saigon, troops and police kept several hundred monks and their followers bottled up inside the Buddhist Institute for the fourth day despite their plea to the International Red Cross that they faced epidemic and starvation.

Some of the government's confidence infected a high-ranking Briton. After four days of talks with Ky and other government leaders, Britain's undersecretary for foreign affairs, Lord Walston, told newsmen he foresaw a military victory for the allies within 12 months.

Sees Victory

Walston's prediction echoed one made by Ky on the first anniversary of his rule Sunday, but the Briton added: "I cannot see a real building up of a peaceful democracy here for a very long time indeed."

On a strip of beach along the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, U. S. seamen unloaded 250 tons of Chinese-made arms and ammunition from a gun-running trawler intercepted Monday as Viet Cong sampans were about to pick up the cargo. U. S. military authorities said it was probably the biggest arms prize of the war.

Yanks Smash Cong Lair In Bunkers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American paratroopers smashed today into a jungle hideout where 500 Viet Cong threw up a bitter defense from log bunkers and criss-cross tunnels.

At last report a pitched battle had been raging for 36 hours and 69 Communists were known killed.

2,000 in Field

Some 2,000 or more men of the 101st Airborne Division and the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division were battling the Viet Cong in the jungled highlands of Phu Yen Province, about 15 miles north of the American coastal enclave at Tuy Hoa.

It was the second major action for the 101st Airborne in two weeks. From June 7 to June 14 the paratroopers battled North Viet Nam's 24th Regiment on the Kontum Plateau, 120 miles northwest of Tuy Hoa, and estimated they killed more

Open French-Soviet Parley in Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle began formal talks with top Kremlin leaders today after starting his 11-day state visit with a call for France and the Soviet Union to join in a search for solutions to Europe's problems.

Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev led the Soviet team at the first of three scheduled formal meetings, emphasizing the importance the Soviets are giving the talks. Brezhnev's position as the party's general secretary makes him the most powerful man in the Soviet Union, but he has only a secondary government role and usually stays out of such talks with government visitors.

Faced De Gaulle

Others who faced De Gaulle across a long table in Catherine's Hall in the great Kremlin Palace were Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

De Gaulle's team included Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Ambassador Philippe Baudet.

Newsmen admitted briefly at the beginning of the session heard De Gaulle and Kosygin mention Stalin.

"I think I had dinner in this hall in 1944," De Gaulle said.

"With Stalin?" Kosygin asked.

"Yes," said De Gaulle, pointing to chairs. "I was there and he was there."

De Gaulle issued his call for agreement between the two countries at a banquet in the Kremlin Monday night.

"Without ignoring the essen-

Still Firm On Forces In Europe

McNamara Says Pressure Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the pressures for cutting U.S. forces in Europe are legitimate and must be seriously considered.

But he said the United States has no plans to reduce its European combat capability "in the present circumstances." And he bluntly told senators worried that U.S. military strength is being spread too thin:

Has No Effect

"Let me state simply and categorically that the United States is capable of maintaining its combat capability in Europe while continuing to meet planned troop deployments to Southeast Asia."

The Senate gives double-barreled attention to North Atlantic Treaty Organization problems today. McNamara testifies before Sen. Henry M. Jackson's subcommittee on national security and former Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon appears before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Indirectly McNamara acknowledged suggestions by

Assembly Passes Vaccine Bill To Fight Polio

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An anti-polio vaccination promises to become as much a part of nearly every New York State child's pre-school routine as the small pox immunization is now.

That became apparent Monday when the Assembly unanimously gave final legislative approval to a measure that would require the polio immunization for all children, except those in families whose religion prohibits vaccination.

The bill was sent to Gov. Rockefeller, who appears certain to sign it.

Children would be required to submit proof of vaccination before they would be allowed to attend a private, public or parochial school in the state.

The anti-polio legislation was one of the prime topics at the Captiol Monday as the Assembly also focused attention on a bill that would set up a statewide primary system.

A potential candidate who received at least 25 per cent of a party committee's vote could demand a spot on a primary ballot, without obtaining signatures on a petition.

In addition, a candidate could

Calls on Thant To Lead Peace Talks in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called on U.N. Secretary-General U Thant today to take the lead in a new effort to arrange Viet Nam peace talks.

Mansfield said he believes a three-point plan renewed by U Thant at a United Nations news conference Monday would get "every consideration from President Johnson' if there was some sign the Communists might accept it.

Thant proposed a cessation of U. S. bombing of North Viet Nam, scaling down of military operations by both sides and a

Supervisors Will Hear Resolution For Sewer Agency

A resolution seeking the appointment of a County Sewer Agency has been filed by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner. The resolution will be called up for a vote at the same meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Thursday evening.

The resolution calls for appointment of a five-member nonpartisan agency which will be given the authority to initiate a county-wide sewer study in order to prevent federal funds from being withheld from all sewer projects in the county.

A new Federal Government policy states that federal funds would be withheld for all sewer and water projects until the county has instituted studies for such purposes. The resolution notes that unless the county takes steps for a study, all applications from municipalities in the county, even those made before the ultimatum, would be held in abeyance.

Witness Gives Tragic Account Of Plane Crash

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Daylight was giving way to dusk as the little boy played in front of his home on Old Buckroe Road, unaware that a burning Marine jet was sweeping down on him.

And then, suddenly, he wasn't there any more. Just his shoes.

This tragic scene was witnessed Monday night by James A. Hardin and his son, Bobby, 13, as they were driving home from a Little League baseball game.

The big jet had just collided with another military plane over a nearby shopping center.

Push for Passage Of New York City 1967 Tax Package

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and the Legislature's Republican and Democratic leaders turned on the pressure today in an effort to round up enough votes to pass the New York City tax package.

Legislative leaders agreed that they could bring the 1966 session to a close Saturday if they could settle the city tax problem today, or by Wednesday at the latest.

Termed Sticky

"It's what I call sticky," said Rockefeller, after a closed-door meeting Monday with legislative leaders of both parties. "I think it's going to be difficult."

"It's always a problem," said Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's ranking Democrat. "We're going to work hard to do it."

Travia's Republican counterpart, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, was more cautious in his assessment of the situation.

"I just don't know," Brydges said.

The comments of the three top figures on Capitol Hill reflected reports of widespread discontent within the Legisla-

Probe Asked On 2 Fires Within City

(Photo on Page 27)

Local police were asked to investigate two Monday fires, one which destroyed a barn off Manor Avenue, and the other which damaged a Garden Street garage.

Firemen were summoned again early today on a call which resulted in an arrest for the alleged sounding of a malicious false alarm.

A large barn off Manor Avenue to the rear of a property owned by Edward deGroff was completely involved in flames when firemen arrived early yesterday afternoon. The structure and contents were destroyed and a nearby two-car garage was damaged.

Alarm Sounded

A telephone call at 1:46 p. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 5641, Manor Avenue and Charlotte Street, with units from Ceneral and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks, Excelsior, and Union volunteers mobilized, and Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge.

Lt. Philip Greer of Wiltwyck Station suffered an injured right

Village residents Mrs. Martha Dunn and Henry Hansen were on hand to discuss an accident in which a tree had fallen on Mrs. Dunn's automobile on West Bridge Street shortly over a week ago. Hansen also said this same tree had done damage to property owned by Mrs. Ida

Migration Boon In California; More Expected

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's zooming population some day may mean standing room only amid gray, sooty smog, but state officials report no plans to charge anyone admission.

A report released Sunday by a research group in Washington, D.C., quoted suggestions that California charge a tax on new arrivals and curb planning of new highways, industries and water supplies.

"You can discourage population by planning the worst school system in the nation," comments Dr. Leslie E. Carbert, state planning officer. "But that is ridiculous."

"How can you tax people for migrating within the United States?" asked Walter P. Hollmann, chief of the state's population research. "That would be thrown out of the lowest court in the land."

The crew-cut Hollmann works in a windowless office in the state library.

Expect Millions More

Gov. Edmund G. Brown once joked about barricading the borders against migrants but he has asked his staff to ready the state to make room for millions more. Plans must consider everything from sewers to universities.

Hollmann didn't argue with figures published by Robert C. Cook, president of Population Reference Bureau, Inc., that California's net gain of 1,500 new residents a day may mean 1.5 billion people — half the world's current population — in 100 years.

"But any Californian can quarrel with his conclusions," current estimated population is

Far Reaching Effects

Supreme Court Ends Session, Broadens Scope of Two Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year of Supreme Court decisions broadening individual and civil rights has ended on a sour note for civil rights workers and thousands of prison inmates.

In quick order Monday at its final session of the 1965-66 term, the high court:

1. Ruled 5 to 4 no federal law gives civil rights "advocates" — or anyone else — immunity from state prosecution under state and local laws.

2. Barred 7 to 2 use of two historic high court confession rulings to retry or release convicts tried before the decisions were announced.

If the rulings were given retroactive application, Chief Justice Earl Warren wrote, "it would require the retrial or release of numerous prisoners found guilty by trustworthy evidence in conformity with previously announced constitutional standards."

The court followed up the decision by turning down 124 individual appeals by prisoners who claimed the confession rulings — one in 1964 and the other a week ago — applied to their convictions.

The impact of the ruling on state prosecution of civil rights workers is evident in Justice Potter Stewart's opinion for the majority and Justice William O. Douglas' opinion for the four dissenters.

Had the 29 rights workers who wanted their cases shifted to federal court prevailed, Stewart said, everything from a $5-misdemeanor to a first-degree murder could be shifted on a claim that prosecution was based on race, that the defendant was innocent and that he would be

Resume Large-Scale Search In River for Infant's Body

A large-scale search resumed today in the vicinity of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge for the body of 2½-year-old Victor Rossiello, believed to have been thrown into the Hudson River near the bridge 17 months ago.

Meanwhile, Raymond J. Rickard Jr., 37, former Brooklynite who was extradited here from India where he had docked with a cargo ship, remained in Ulster County Jail awaiting action on a first-degree murder charge in the child's death in November 1964. He was formally arraigned on the charge last week before County Judge Raymond J. Mino, who adjourned the case to 10 a. m. Wednesday to permit the defendant time to obtain counsel.

Aso in the jail where she is being held as a material witness in the alleged murder is the child's mother, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Rossiello, 37, of 2022 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn.

State Police at the Lake Katrine substation said that the search operations resumed after subsiding over the past weekend in order not to interfere with marine recreational events scheduled on the river near the bridge.

Some two dozen personnel from Troop C's Zone 1 headquarters launched the large scale search a week ago in an effort to recover the body. Personnel from the Army and Coast Guard joined them in the various search phases including implementation of underwater (SCUBA) specialists and military equipment used for such operations.

Sheriff William B. Martin also assigned a detail to the operation.

It is charged in the indictment against him that Rickard allegedly struck and killed the Rossiello boy while has was residing with his family at a trailer park

Dear Abby . . .

Don't Cast Son in Husband Role

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 37. My husband died 3 years ago, leaving me with a 14-year-old son I'll call Joel. I loved my husband dearly, but he had been incurably ill for a year and suffered terribly, so his death was a blessing. Joel took it hard as he and his father had been great pals. I made Joel "man-of-the-house." He became my "beau" and escorted me in place of his father. I let him handle the money when we went marketing. He took over surprisingly well.

About 6 months ago I started seeing a 44-year-old widower. Abby, I never thought I could be so happy again. He is kind and gentle, and he adores me. I really care for him too, and he wants to marry me. I asked Joel how he felt about my remarrying, and he is violently opposed to the idea. He enjoyed being the "man-of-the-houes" and doesn't want to go back to being a little boy again. My son comes first, but I know I could never find a better man, and I don't want to spend the rest of my life alone. Yet how can I marry a man knowing it will break my son's heart?

DIFFICULT DECISION

DEAR DIFFICULT: Marry the man. It was a mistake to cast your son in the role of substitute husband. No wonder he regards another man in your life as a rival and a threat. Encourage Joel to make a social life of his own among his contemporaries. His attitude is understandably adolescent, but with maturity he will be less hurt and more realistic.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me if I am wrong for feeling the way I do? When I got married, my aunt and uncle gave my husband and me a garbage pail for a wedding gift. I accepted it, but took it as an insult. I remain, very truly yours,

"INSULTED"

DEAR INSULTED: While it may not have been the most glamorous gift, it was certainly one of the most practical. I see nothing insulting about a useful gift in good faith.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am so mad at my mother I could scream. I ordered 75 invitations to my high school graduation. (You have to order them in batches of 25.) My mother asked to see the list of people I intended to send them to, so I showed her the list and she crossed off 51 names! She said sending a graduation invitation was the same as asking for a present, and I should send them only to my very closest friends. Abby, all these people ARE my close friends. She also said I shouldn't send any to out-of-towners because they couldn't come anyway. I just wanted them to know that I was graduating. The exercises are going to be held in the park, and we were told we could invite as many people as we wanted. Do you think my mother had the right to cut down my list that way? After all, it's MY graduation, and if I want to send invitations to perfect strangers, it's MY business.

MAD

DEAR MAD: It may be your graduation, but it's your mother's duty as well as her right to guide you in matters of judgement and propriety. Simmer down, honey, and listen to your mother. She may have a point.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If hanging your sweater on a hanger has caused little bumps at the shoulders, put the sweater on, dampen and pat down the raised places, and let the sweater dry while wearing it.

The bumps will disappear.

Or, you could put a wash cloth or sponge in warm water, wring it out, and place it on the raised places of the shoulder and the heat will flatten out the bumps.

Dear Heloise:

I am sending along one of my little economical hints pertaining to containers that soft margarine and cottage cheese come in.

When I buy ground (hamburger) in large quantities, I freeze it in these. I use as many containers as needed.

Since I save and try new recipes, these little cartons come in handy when I give a sample of my new lish to friends or relatives.

I tell them to keep the carton and I don't have to worry about my dishes disappearing.

The little tubs have the handiest snap-on lids, and I needn't worry about spilling as I have given soups, stews, etc., as samples in these wonderful containers.

I wash the containers and store them in a corner compartment in my kitchen.

Dear Heloise:

When I get food stains on my plastic tablecloth, I squirt a little hair shampoo on the stain and then wipe with a soft sponge.

I never use abrasive cleaner on my pretty plastic tablecloth as it removes the design. Shampoo doesn't do that.

Dear Heloise:

I have a hint for anyone who shops alone and hates the long waiting line at the checkout counter.

I always take along a small book or magazine to read while waiting, and the time goes by much faster.

This is my easy way to fill pillows with shredded foam rubber.

I leave a 6 inch opening in the seam on one side of the pillow, cut the bottom out of a one pound coffee can so the can is open on both ends. Insert the can into the pillow opening and pour the shredded foam rubber through the can into the pillow.

It is easy to hold the pillow cloth around the can, and the foam rubber slides right in the pillow.

Dear Heloise:

My husband thought of the idea of freezing cans of low-calorie liquid diet meals to take with him for lunch.

It really works. Of course, they do not remain frozen, but are still cold and pleasant to drink when lunchtime comes.

Just keep a can opener at work, and your lunch problems are solved.

Says Mayor Must Find New Moneys for Renovations

In an open letter to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan Friday, former Catskill High School teacher Ronald F. Woods charged that unless new sources of revenue are discovered, the Mayor's proposed program of improvement of local facilities will not become effective.

Woods urged the Mayor to meet with State, County and local officials to discuss the problem of the necessary additional revenues.

Following is the text of his letter:

Dear Mayor Garraghan:

"You made it quite clear in a letter to me and on many other occasions that the facilities in Kingston will not be improved unless other sources of revenue are found. You apparently are convinced that without new sources of revenue we cannot begin to meet the problems we now face.

"Has the current session of the Common Council provided any new legislation which will bring the needed revenue from other sources? Is one of the Common Council committees now actively exploring solutions to the problem? If not, what are their reasons for failing to do so? If so, when does that committee plan on reporting to the public?

"The Kingston Comprehensive Development Plan prepared by Raymond and May Associates which was presented to Mayor Radel in 1961 recommended that there be an analysis of the city's financial resources. This would include a projection of city revenues from all sources and a projection of city costs by department. Has the Planning Board made any progress in the last five years in regard to these suggestions?

"Governor Rockefeller and state officials have met with New York City officials to discuss the problem of needed revenues for their city. Will Governor Rockefeller and state officials meet with you and Alderman-at-Large Koenig to discuss Kingston's need for more revenue so that our city government can provide the necessary services? Have Assemblyman Wilson and State Senator Newcombe been consulted so that we are fully aware of the legal forms of city taxation that state law allows? Perhaps you could arrange a series of conferences with Alderman-at Large Koenig, Chairman Relyea of the Board of Supervisors, Congressman Resnick, Assemblyman Wilson, Senator Newcombe and others so that their ideas can be taken into consideration.

"My hope for Knigston is a new city charter because reorganization offers to us the promise of a great city. However, I submit that unless new sources of revenue are discovered, we will be unable to put the new charter into use because the budget will not be able to provide for th modern city government provisions such as a well staffed legal department, executive assistants, etc., or whatever the Charter Revision Committee adopts. The promise of well organized city departments, leadership in the hands of experienced city government officials, a more business like and less political government and other modern city charter trends are all ideas that Kingstonians have deserved for a long time. It will take time for us to realize the benefits of a modern city charter but we must get our city operating under an up-to-date charter.

"You also have made it clear that a new city hall would centralize city departments and save money and I was wondering if a new city hall could be consolidated into the urban renewal program.

"I believe your conception of a Land Map for Ulster County and the Recreation Commission are very sound ideas. Although I have made some critical statements in the past, I can assure you that I am interested in building Kingston into a city in which we can once again be proud."

Woods attended the University of Arizona last year for graduate study. He resides at 15 Len Court, Kingston.

Visit by Grandson Has Tragic Events

SANBORN, N.Y. (AP) - A child's visit to his grandfather's home in this Niagara County ended in tragedy Monday when the 3½ - year-old boy drowned in a pond.

Britts Completes Expansion Plans, Adds Facilities

Paul J. Sullivan, manager of Britts department store in Kingston Plaza, announced today that the current remodeling and expansion program has been completed.

The Britts manager pointed out that the expansion had been necessitated by an increase of business over the two years since the store opened, and a desire to improve the customer conveniences of the store.

Sullivan explained that "Since early June, many new departments have been added to the store including a new photography center, a hobby shop (featuring artists materials), a coin and stamp "collectors corner", and a new and huge luggage department." "Another feature added" continuer the manager, "is "The Junior Shop" which already has already begun to catch on with the Junior Set."

Changes have also been made in the television section of the store by the addition of a color TV room for customer viewing The record department too has been expanded as have the departments of men's wear, boy's wear, shoes and sporting goods.

Sullivan also expressed gratitude for "The patience of Britts customers in bearing with us while all this was accomplished. We hope that now they will feel rewarded for that patience by Britts finer shopping facilities."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 21, 1966

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS

The balance of payments problem—in simple terms, the difference between the amount of money that leaves this country and the amount that comes in every year—continues to be worrisome.

The deficit in the first quarter of this year ran at an annual rate of $2.3 billion, compared with $1.3 billion for all of 1965.

This need not be, says the International Economic Policy Association. This privately financed economic research group has just issued a batch of proposals which it claims could improve the payments picture by at least $3 billion.

The association's study points out that for several years the private sector of the economy, as a result of export surpluses and income on private investments abroad, has generated a payments surplus. It is federal spending overseas (foreign aid, military outlays, etc.) that has been "consistently in difficulty by over $3 billion a year."

In the foreign aid field, the research group recommends greater emphasis on private investments projects and the creation of an international aid agency to foster an international sharing of the global aid burden. It also suggests that U.S. military forces be reduced in countries unwilling to cooperate in efforts to reduce this country's payments problem.

Other recommendations include tax incentives for exports and incentives for foreign visitors to America.

The study seems deserving of a close reading in Washington. Something else seems sure: Backing into a new kind of isolationism by discouraging private American tourism and private American investment abroad, which are two of the current strategies, is not going to solve this public problem.

The House passes a defense bill a billion dollars bigger than requested. Next week the talk about big spending by government will be resumed.

THREE-ACT DRAMA

At first glance it seem easy to read the cast of characters in a recent New York City news story drama. The hero, clearly, was the young man who went to the aid of an 11-year-old boy whose clothing was ablaze. The villains were 50 spectators who watched and did nothing.

The obvious conclusion at the end of the first act was that New Yorkers had changed little since Kitty Genovese was killed two years ago while 38 persons looked on and refused to become involved. The second act, however, disclosed the hero caught burglarizing a service station. It also introduced the kindly character actor in the person of the judge who dealt compassionately with the burglar-hero.

Final court hearing is scheduled for June 29. Whether disposition of the case will provide a satisfactory third act curtain remains to be seen. One thing is certain at this writing, however: this series of events offers proof once more that only in the old time Western films are the characterizations all black or all white. In real life there are many shades of gray.

Talk of Mao being replaced as Red China's boss might be cause of optimism, except that the new leaders probably will try to out-Mao Mao.

THE NICEST PEOPLE

As the car turned into the parking lot, its driver casually flipped a half-smoked cigarette out into the street. The little white cylinder rolled to the curb. When the car had been parked its occupants emerged and strolled off, engrossed in conversation. One of them, munching the last of a candy bar, tossed the wrapper aside. The wind nestled it beside the discarded cigarette.

These small examples of littering were not perpetrated by beatniks or bums or unthinking children. These examples of the genus Litterbug were a couple of well dressed, pleasant, soft-spoken women who doubtless prided themselves on the spotless order of their homes.

The point we make is that the litterbug is not always the messy sort given to fouling the nest. A moment of carelessness can make a litterbug of anyone. The cigarette butts and candy bar wrappers and such foul the community nest — and too often it's the nicest people, their minds on something else, who do the dirty work.

X-rays will be used to probe one of the great pyramids of Giza. The experts figure anyone inside must be immune to excessive radiation by this time.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

IN NATO'S HOUR OF PERIL

Will success spoil Rock Hunter? Has success spoiled NATO?

The hints are in the air, and not only because of President de Gaulle's intransigence about giving the NATO High Command the old heave-ho from French territory. The Belgians don't seem to be very happy about accepting transfer of NATO military headquarters to their soil. And from eastern Europe comes the voice of the serpent, tempting the West to eat of forbidden fruit. President (for life) Tito attacks all military groupings, suggesting that if NATO were to go, then the "equal and opposite" Warsaw Pact would disappear, too. The Rumanians say this is what they meant all along when they were denouncing the quartering of troops on foreign territory. Meanwhile, in this atmosphere, de Gaulle goes to Moscow. Heaven only knows what he will be proposing, but it is ominous that he felt he had to slap at NATO as a preparation for his mission to the East.

The recent hearings on the Atlantic Alliance, held before Senator Henry Jackson's subcommittee on national security, have positively dripped with autumnal feelings. After former Secretary of State Dean Acheson's appearance, Senator Jackson said, "Mr. Secretary, it has been like old times having you with us." Old times, indeed! Acheson was hopeful for the future, but his sense of realism kept breaking through. "What has happened in Europe, the very success of our policy," he said, "has led to the belief in Europe that prosperity is power. Of course, these are very different things."

In New York, the book publishing firm of Random House compounds the autumnal feeling by putting out a tome by Richard J. Barnet and Marcus G. Raskin, co-directors of the Institute for Policy Studies, called "After Twenty Years: the Decline of NATO and the Search for a New Policy in Europe." A Soviet attack on western Europe, the authors say, is no longer credible; therefore, we cannot maintain an Atlantic Alliance based on that threat. What NATO does, so it is contended, is to foster the notion among the eastern nations that the wealthy countries of the West are maintaining a rich man's club. This supposedly arouses poor nations to thinking they must acquire their own atomic potential.

But if NATO were to go, what then? It would certainly be every nation for itself in western Europe. The Germans would want their share of nuclear military power. The French, worried about nationalism beyond the Rhine, would look to the east for "balance." Would this mean less tension in Europe, or more? Remembering that this is the sort of "balance" we had in 1914 and in the Nineteen Thirties, doesn't the question answer itself?

Thinking back, there was the time, after the success of Washington's army at Yorktown, when the young American confederation, victorious over Britain, started to fall apart. A wary group of patriots, led by Washington, Franklin, Madison, Hamilton, and John Jay, watched with uneasiness the ruination of some of the state currencies, and the tendency of New York and Pennsylvania, for example, to treat New Jersey as "a barrel tapped at bothends." The patriots watched, too, as Britain, France, and Spain began eyeing the colonies' territory with a thought of picking up the pieces. But when things were darkest, a convention was held at Philadelphia.

The anology between 1787 and 1966 does not necessarily hold in all respects, for western Europe is still sticking to its common market ideas, and de Gaulle, though he has denounced NATO as a specific way of organizing a defense, has not broken with the North Atlantic Alliance. But it is nonetheless a curious fact that, at this moment of low ebb for the spirit of western unity, the plan offered by Clarence Streit, that indefatigable champion of a North Atlantic federation formed on the model of the U.S.A., is enjoying a spate of new popularity. Even the "nationalist" Barry Goldwater is for it. Representative Paul Findley of Illinois reports some forty-five per cent of the people in his Middle Western Conugressional district are for turning the Atlantic Alliance into a federalized system. Thirty-five per cent of Mr. Findley's sample held no opinion, and only some twenty per cent were against the idea.

Is Clarence Streit's day coming? Not unless western Europe decides to take his idea seriously. But it would be interesting to know what a Findley-type questionnaire would turn up in the NATO nations.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Consider Vacation Area's Effect on Your Health

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most persons remain as well while traveling as when they are at home, but even a minor illness can take all the fun out of your vacation. For that reason it is a good idea to have a physical checkup, including a dental examination, before you start your trip. If you plan to leave the country, ask your doctor about the vaccinations you will need.

The United States Public Health Service recommends vaccination against typhoid, tetanus, poliomyelitis and diphtheria for everyone. This is in addition to a smallpox vaccination which must have been done within three years of your latest return to the United States and validated with the official stamp of your local or state health department. Failure to comply with this regulation may mean detention for up to 14 days.

If you are returning from a country where cholera, yellow fever, typhus or plague are prevalent, you must also have valid proof of vaccination against these diseases.

When planning your trip it is well to consider the effect on your health of the area you expect to visit. If you have hay fever you will find a welcome absence of ragweed in Europe, Bermuda and the Virgin Islands. If you have asthma or other respiratory diseases a warm, stable climate is recommended.

If you have a gastrointestinal disease or an easily upset digestive tract, your best bet is a cold climate. If you have a heart disease, high blood pressure or a circulatory disorder, you should avoid high altitudes.

Some thought should also be given to your wardrobe. In hot humid areas your clothing should be light in weight and color, loose in fit and preferably linen or cotton. For high altitudes you must be prepared for warm days and cold nights. For cold countries provide yourself with woolen night wear including a sleeping cap and bed socks. For any country it is wise to have a raincoat and a jacket or sweater. Take shoes that are well-broken in. If you wear glasses, carry not only an extra pair but also your prescription.

Wherever you go, you must eat. In most countries pasteurized milk is safe but to be on the safe side you should use only boiled milk. The sanitary standards of large hotels in most cities are on a par with those in this country but visit quaint little out-of-the-way restaurants at your own risk. You should avoid cream or custard-filled pastries, meringues and salads. Stick to well-cooked foods except for raw fruits that you can peel for yourself.

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Democratic party professional very much interested in the future political welfare of the two Kennedys is troubled over the rising support of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy seems to be drawing from liberal intellectuals.

Sitting in his office on a quiet weekend afternoon, this politician said he views such support at mercurial--and hence not to be trusted.

During most of his tenure as U. S. attorney general and throughout his 1964 campaign for the Senate, Bob Kennedy was seen by much of the intellectual community as a mortal adversary.

Now, for a variety of reasons, he is pleasing these people. But wary political pragmatists believe that just one major departure from the liberal catechism on Viet Nam or any other subject will expose the senator to the charge that "the old Kennedy is back."

IF IT WERE NOT FOR the public attention the articulate intellectuals constantly command, many party professionals would be inclined to dismiss their political gyrations as merely comical.

At this moment, some liberals are busy writing that Kennedy in earlier years was "misunderstood." One even goes so far as to blame the press for encouraging a shallow, incorrect portrait of the man.

In plain fact, two years ago the intellectuals were thundering against him in print, and contributing heavily to the image which is now said to be the work of others.

One of the funnier items of 1966 is the prospect of Kennedy's "adoption" by a newly formed group of liberal and radical activists called the National Conference for New Politics. They see him as a possibility for the 1968 presidential race.

Basically, the New Politics group is anti-Viet Nam war and pro-"grass roots" civil rights activity. Yet Kennedy has been astonished to find himself embraced by some as a "dove." And a few years ago many liberals, hearing of a dramatic Kennedy confrontation with Negro spokesmen in New York, blasted him as an ignorant member of "the establishment."

THE WORRIED pro-Kennedy party professional thinks the root of the matter may lie in the fact that the senator, in seeking regularly to separate himself from President Johnson's positions, tends rather consistently to land considerably to his left.

Actually, for the critical Democratic politician there is almost nowhere else to land. Outside the Old South and here and there in the West, Democrats anxious to stand extinct from the middle road preempted by the President have no choice but the left.

The liberals who are presently gobbling up Kennedy's views seem oblivious of this.

HIS UTTERANCES on the Viet Nam war are mostly pleas for flexibility of approach, not calls for a "cut-and-run" policy. His domestic appeals for more money and attention to antipoverty and other social programs, are largely a thing of emphasis.

So eager are they for a powerful champion, a man of real weight and influence, that many liberal intellectuals are imputing views and attitudes to Kennedy—especially on the war—which he does not have.

When this is driven home to them as it may well be one of these days, the senator's newfound activist friends may desert him as if he were a carrier of cholera. Even now, large numbers of intellectuals remain unsold on him. Old animosities are strong.

But whether Robert Kennedy is deliberately seeking these people or not, the fact is he has some of them today. That is what worries the friendly party professional, who sees their vote help very small but their hostile noise very big.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Those who send for covers or envelopes for first day issue no doubt will now send for the July 1, five cent Bill of Rights stamp, to the Postmaster, Miami Beach, Fla. 33139. A short time ago I received a fine assortment of FDC (First Day Covers). They are made by Art Craft, and sent out by United Air Lines, which include a little history of the particular envelope. One for George Washington has a fine portrait of Washington. It also includes a detailed drawing of Washington's birthplace at Bridges Creek, Westmoreland County, Va.

The letter inside explains "This First-Day Cover comes to you from Washington, D.C. in honor of our country's first President, George Washington. This great American's unanswering devotion to the cause of liberty, his indomitable courage, his genius at keeping supply lines flowing and his intense strength of character inspired the faltering forces of freedom to final victory. The stamp is one of the new "Prominent Americans" series. It is postal policy to redesign regular stamps about every 10 years and this new series replaces those dating back to 1954.

Another cover is the 50th anniversary of the Migratory Bird Treaty between United States and Canada. It shows several whooping cranes on the cover and a map of North America. This letter and FDC comes from Pittsburgh, Pa. and tells about the treaty signed by U.S. and Canada in 1916 and adopted in 1918. It protects migratory birds in both nations by restricting hunting seasons to no more than three and a half months. As a result the Whooping crane, and other waterfowl once facing extinction, have survived.

I noticed that the United Air Lines colors match the Migratory Bird Treaty stamps which is interesting as they both represent air travel. Another very lovely cover is the FDC of Humane Treatment of Animals of April 9, 1966. It shows a handsome youngster with a puppy, and a surprised Siamese cat with folded paws beneath this picture, also in the background stands the deer, cow and pig. This stamp commemorates the founding of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York on April 10, 1866. Today there are 600 similar societies in this country active in such efforts. They also explain that United's medical director, Col. A. D. Tuttle, MD, designed an airworthy kennel in 1948. H. J. Merchant, vice president and general sales manager explains that some 1,200 household pets, thoroughbred race horses, pedigreed farm animals and rare wild beasts fly the skies safely every month in comfort in this method. Thus, a FDC proves it is not only a stamp and decorated enevlope but research has been done to compile all this information in one attractive, interesting and collector's item envelope.

One of the popular stamps is the May 2, 1966 colorful circus stamp. A portrait of J. Ringling is on the cover, with clowns, animals and other circus performers, and the lettering is in circus decorated designs not changed over the years. In describing the first day cover of the circus they mention the steam calliope, spangled satins, colored plumes, acrobats swinging in a vaulted canvass loft. "Since the day George Washington rode from Mt. Vernon to Philadelphia to see a circus" it has cheered and excited with a fantastic fairyland, children and their parents in big cities and small towns. The circus, coming to town, in my day, with its street parades, which always went to Rondout, downtown, which was a part of Kingston then, meant a wonderful day for all of us.

Believes USSR Also Puzzled By De Gaulle Mission Motive

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — General de Gaulle's trip to Moscow cannot be brushed off as just a desire to bolster his position as an international figure. Nor can this mission be regarded as necessarily at variance with the policies of the United States merely because the French president previously has been requesting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to withdraw its forces from France. The Soviets are probably just as puzzled as the rest of the world as to what is really behind the de Gaulle mission.

General de Gaulle's campaign to reconstruct Europe is rooted in the belief that he can win the confidence of the Soviet government and, in the end, bring about better relations between the East and West than the United States could at this time.

Sees Responsibility

The basic and underlying concept of the French president's philosophy is that the United States, despite its althruism and military help, cannot be accepted as the boss or supervisor or even the guardian of Europe, and that the responsibility for the rebuilding of Europe must be undertaken by Europeans themselves. Many Americans espouse the same principle.

The French president is not likely to reveal all of his strategy at this time, but his immediate objective is to bring about a better understanding between the Communist-bloc countries in eastern Europe and the powerful nations of western Eurpoe. He is concerned not merely with trade relationships but with closer ties in other ways. His theory is that Communist countries like Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Hungary are more likely to be emancipated or at least made less dependent on Soviet rule by tieing up with France and eventually all of western Europe than by maintaining the status quo.

While General de Gaulle is talking about a united Europe, he does not forsee a United States of Europe. He wants the individual powers—like France—to remain masters of their own destiny. But even with a better understanding between Moscow and Paris, it is not likely that this will solve the problem of reunification of Germany. General de Gaulle feels that, for the moment, very little can be done to unite the two German governments. He believes it is more important first to bring into a closer relationship the Communist countries of eastern Europe and the free countries of western Europe.

Related to all this, naturally, is the question of what part the United States shall play in defending Europe in future emergencies. General De Gaulle is taking for granted that the United States will, in its own interests, always have a direct concern for Europe and will come to the aid of Western Europe with nuclear weapons if necessary. His idea is that the time has arrived to concentrate on Europe for the Europeans in both a political and economic sense and that a new alliance can be forged in Europe with Russia, Great Britain and France.

Cite New Concept

This is not a new concept, as France has from time to time played ball with Moscow, though the last experience was tragic. Stalin in the 1930's had given every impression that he was on the side of Western Europe, but when Hitler invaded Poland in September 1939, Russia did likewise and, in effect, divided Poland with the Nazi dictator. It was only when Hitler attacked Russia in June 1941 that Stalin turned his armies to the western side in a new alliance.

The Russians are intrigued with General De Gaulle's mission and gave him a big parade in Moscow. There is every indication that the Soviets will, at any rate, appear to be getting closer to the French president. The Soviet leaders are hopeful of driving a wedge between Western Europe and the United States.

It may be that some minor agreements will emerge from the De Gaulle mission—such as a plan to co-operate in the exploration of space. But, basically, the trip has more to do with the opening of trade with the eastern-bloc countries — something the United States has been considering, too—than with the formation immediately of any new alliance.

While the United States and France differ on just how NATO's forces are to be deployed nowadays, the two countries in the long run may not find themselves far apart on other issues—such as winning Eastern Europe away from the Russians by trade agreements or by building up a stronger economic partnership among the nations of Europe.

Negotiators Disappointed Over Progress of Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Top negotiators for the World Journal Tribune Inc. and the striking Newspaper Guild of New York have expressed disappointment as new snags developed in their talks on the last few unsettled contract issues.

Matt Meyer, president of the new publishing venture, said after a negotiating session Monday night:

"We would like to settle on a reasonable basis. We're extremely disappointed."

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the guild said: "The minor issues are as big a problem as the major issues."

Murphy indicated that settlement would not be imminent "if they are going to make a big deal out of every minor issue — all the stuff we've taken for granted. . .it appears we will have to renegotiate them all over again."

The guild — composed mostly of editorial, business office and maintenance employes — is the only one of the 10 newspaper industry unions that is on strike against the corporation which was formed in the merger of three newspapers.

Six Reach Agreement

Six of the nine craft unions have reached contract agreements with the corporation, whose publication of three new papers has been held up for 58 days.

David L. Cole, chief mediator in all the negotiations, said Monday night that he was "glad to hear" that Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union, was due here Wednesday night to help the mailers union in settling its dispute with the World Journal Tribune Inc.

In addition to the mailers, and the guild, the pressmen and the drivers' unions have not yet settled their disputes.

Meyer said after Monday night's negotiation session that "we were down to five issues" at the end of talks last week, tut Monday Murphy "set 18 new conditions."

Meyer said Murphy had taken all of the best clauses from all of the New York City newspaper contracts "and put them on the table as new demands."

In addition to having their own contract problems, members of the craft unions have refused to cross guild picket lines since the guild struck on April 24, the day before the scheduled start of publication.

It is believed that a guild settlement and withdrawal of its picket lines would put great pressure on the mailers, pressmen and drivers to settle. The three craft unions also might face the possibility of damage suits if their members refused to work.

The craft unions contend they had no contracts with the World Journal Tribune when the guild strike started. But the corporation contends the contract which covered the craft unions at the merged papers — the Herald and the World-Telegram & Sun Tribune, the Journal-American and the World-Telegram & Sun — carried over to the new corporation. Members of the guild were working without contracts when their strike started.

The papers planned by the new corporation ars the Herald Tribune on weekday mornings, the World Journal on weekday afternoons and the Wrold Journal Tribune on Sundays.

Goes on Show, Accepts Date, Will Get Married

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Example of how one thing can lead to another: writer Richard Warren Lewis accepted a magazine assignment and found himself a wife.

It started last month when Lewis was delegated by TV Guide to write an article on "The Dating Game," a daytime show on ABC Television. The gimmick of the show is to present a single man or woman with three possibilities for dates. By interrogation — but without seeing the three prospects — the contestant picks the likeliest date.

Lewis selected actress Joan Patrick. Twelve days later they were engaged. They plan to marry Aug. 27.

Still stunned by the sequence of events, they explained how it happened. Miss Patrick is 27, a Windsor, Ont., girl who was once Miss Canada; in recent times she has appeared in television and plays. Lewis, 33, a New Yorker who was born in Bellow's Falls, Vt., has been a successful magazine writer.

"When I was assigned the story on 'The Dating Game,' I thought I might get a different approach by appearing on the show myself," he said. "I was one of three possibilities for a girl singer to date. She chose one of the others, and I found myself out in the network parking lot with a consolation prize of a bottle of cologne under my arm.

"I felt frustrated, and I wanted to try again, this time as the one seeking a date."

Meanwhile Miss Patrick had come to Hollywood from her New York home for a television film.

"I didn't want to do the show," she recalled, "but my agent said I would be barred from the studio for life if I didn't take the role. So I flew out here, arriving at 4:30 a.m. At 10 that morning, ABC called with an offer to appear on 'The Dating Game.' It had to be fate."

He chose Joan for his date, and they were awarded a dinner at a swank Beverly Hills cafe and an art gallery opening. They were to spend the evening together two weeks after the show, but he asked for a date that night.

Twelve days later he inquired: "What would your reaction be if I asked you to marry me?" She suggested he try it; he did; she accepted.

Welcome Given Arabian King

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-one guns boom out a Washington welcome today for King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

The ruler of the oil-rich desert kingdom flies to the capital after an overnight stay at Colonial Williamsburg, Va. President Johnson greets the king at the White House, then joins him in a parade through downtown Washington.

Faisal, 60, receives a key to the city from District of Columbia officials at Blair House, where he is staying during his three-day state visit, then lunches with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The king returns to the White House for a late afternoon conference with Johnson, followed by a black-tie stag dinner. The after-dinner entertainment will include military marching and music on the White House lawn by the Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps, The Army drill team and the Army band. A fireworks display will cap the program.

Wednesday Faisal addresses a luncheon sponsored by Washington newsmen, holds separate conferences with Johnson and Rusk and gives a reception in honor of the President at the Saudi Arabian Embassy.

He leaves for New York Thursday afternoon.

This is Faisal's first visit to the United States since he became king in 1964. He is accompanied by nine of his country's officials but no members of his immediate family.

Residents in UR Area Complain Of Deterioration

Tenants and former property owners in Downtown's Broadway East Urban Renewal Project area, in a statement today complaining of UR procedure and deterioration of a recreation site, said they felt they have been used "as footballs."

The statement: "We the tenants and former private house owners of the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project area have been used as footballs—also called pigs—Yes! 'We live in pig pens. Why? Because we owe this condition to the landlords. Yes!

Relaxed 5 Years

"Mr. Hemphill (Eric Hemphill, executive director of the UR Agency) and associates of your office have reminded the landlords of the urban renewal takeover. Therefore, the inspection of these buildings has been relaxed for the past five years. Still the landlords received our rents and the buildings became fire traps.

"Maybe it is a custom of your office and associates to want these buildings to deteriorate in order to have these houses and buildings sold to the Urban Renewal Agency at your figures, which have been far below today's valuation. Or maybe the word condemnation could be better used.

"Mr. Hemphill and Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan can you find a house or building today for the price the UR Agency has asked us? Maybe you could have the city fenced in and let it be called 'The Poor Farm.' Now Mr. Hemphill and Mr. Mayor, don't you think it is time to have those 135 (housing) units in progress before any more demolition. Or would it be better to have the U. S. District Court decide on the whole issue?

Notes Playground

"Look at our playground and ball diamond in the area (off Meadow Street.) We have reminded Mr. Andrew J. Murphy III (recreation superintendent) and Mr. Charles A. Ryan (assistant) of the condition of the playground. We are told that the property belongs to the URA which says it belongs to the city. This is a disgrace to the City of Kingston."

The area referred to as "playground" is owned by the city and will ultimately be acquired by the Urban Renewal Agency. It had been cleared of buildings in the 1950's as the "clearance" phase of the Colonial Gardens housing project, and has not been established as a permanent park or playground.

South Blocks West Defense

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Way back in 1934 the late Walter Malowan was a youngster of only 49. He started an article in the Bridge World magazine as follows:

"I have been openly and surreptitiously accused of making more no-trump bids than any three good players together. I do not deny this statement, but I do claim that there is a method in my madness."

He pointed out that defense against no-trump is usually harder than against a suit contract and showed some hands that produced no-trump games for him.

His first example was a hand with which most players would have doubled two hearts and probably collected a 300-point penalty. Walter bid three no-trump and won a two-game rubber.

His explanation of the play was, "West led the king of clubs and continued with the queen. I allowed both to hold because I wanted to deprive West of any possible club exit card. West had to shift at trick three but he made it as hard for me as possible by leading his one diamond. I ran off my five diamonds after time out to collect dummy's ace of clubs and then played ace and a small spade. West cashed two spade tricks but had to lead to my ace-queen of hearts to give me my ninth trick."

While Walter could have taken the first club or the second club his method simplfied the development of the eventual end play and made the whole hand almost routine.

List American Motors Showing of Idea Cars

DETROIT—American Motors announced this week that it will show four "idea cars" at a series of survey-previews in major cities beginning June 20.

Roy Abernethy, president, said the showings are to test public reaction to several design concepts in the sporty and smaller car area. The local agency is Franz Rambler Sales, 154 Clinton Avenue.

"The tempo of market changes is moving more rapidly than in the past, and this throws greater emphasis on advance testing of consumer opinion," Abernethy said. "The cars we will show are not intended as actual prototypes but we expect reaction to the innovations presented will influence future design and engineering decisions."

"One development worth particular attention is the rising interest in specialized and personalized vehicles," he said.

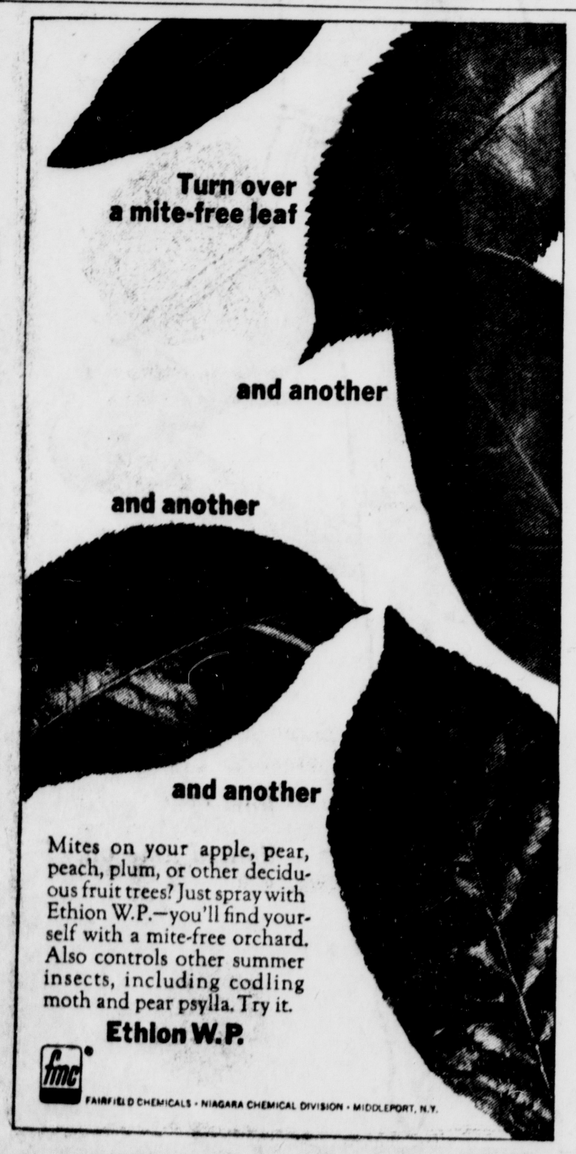

The cars will be shown to businessmen and community leaders at private, invitational meetings in New York, June 20; Washington, June 23; Los Angeles, June 28; San Francisco, June 30; Chicago, July 5; and Detroit, July 7, with other cities to be scheduled.

Malcom Wilson's Views

Calls Medical-Aid Program Unrealistic in Some Areas

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson suggests that the state's new and disputed medical-aid program include "a variable standard of financial eligibility based on a particular area."

"Six thousand dollars is a proper limit in a metropolitan area," he told a meeting of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, "but it is unrealistic in some Upstate areas."

Wilson was referring to a state program to pay medical bills for those deemed needy. Under its provisions, for example, a family of four with one wage-earner is eligible if its net income is under $6,000 annually.

At the noon session Monday, Howard J. Samuels, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said that he had fought unsuccessfully to have the state's forthcoming constitutional convention a bi-partisan affair.

Samuels contended that the next governor of the state, regardless of party, would have a tremendous influence over the actions of the convention.

Wilson, in answer to questions, said the convention "should be partisan," and added the meetings "will not be dominated, no matter who the governor may be."

Discussing the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision regarding the rights of persons accused in crimes, Wilson said the high tribunal had formulated "completely unrealistic tests."

He said some of the requirements set forth by the court "warped the search for truth to a search for technicalities."

Samuels, a Canandaigua businessman, echoed Wilson's concern with the medical-aid law, saying it was "pushed through the Legislature without proper study and analysis."

He estimated that the bill's cost would reach $2 billion in a few weeks and would work "against the interest of those who want a long-range plan for health."

Samuels described the American system of government as so outmoded at all levels that "we are governed by crisis, cajolery and compromise."

In other opinions, Samuels said:

—The 1967 Constitutional Convention "will be working for the next election when it should be working for the next generation."

—The New York City income tax will be collected in the city "for political reasons." As a result, he said, instead of using existing state tax-collecting machinery, a city tax - collection agency will have to be established, at a cost of up to $20 million.

—If there were a direct primary system, he could be nominated for governor.

Gets Promoted To Investigator

Investigator William Wolf of the Claverack sub-station has been promoted to Senior Investigator in the Columbia County BCI unit. The 35-year-old police officer, who resides in Catskill, joined the State Police in 1953. He was first stationed at Claverack as a uniformed trooper and later served on the Thruway patrol.

Wolf was promoted to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation in 1958 and worked out of the former Troop G headquarters at Troy. In February 1959 he was transferred to the Claverack station where he has since been stationed.

Senior Investigator Wolf is married to the former Dorothy Hanna of Catskill. They have five children. The new post carries a salary of $10,980 annually.

SHOCKING DISPLAY—Not wired for sound or lights but for protection, this statue, representing Agriculture, is one of several on the District Building in Washington, D.C., draped with wires to keep the birds away. Starlings, given to cluttering up the capital's monumental statuary, are shooed away with a light shock if they should be foolhardy enough to alight on the festooned figures.

FIREARMS SAFETY DEMONSTRATION—Proper use, care and storage of firearms were demonstrated Sunday by members of federal, state and local police to the members of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose. Guest speakers were Charles Smith of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Trooper Joseph B. Hewitt of the New York State Police in Sidney. Richard Peters, who was co-chairman of the Moose event, read a proclamation issued by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan declaring June 19 as Fireman's Safety Day in Kingston. Introducing the speakers was Harry Coale, chairman. Present at the exercises are, l-r, Patrolman William Whelan of the Kingston Police Department, Co-chairman Peters, FBI agent Smith, Chairman Coale, Trooper Hewitt and Patrolman Lewis Keator of the Kingston Police. SAUGERTIES NEWS

Glasco Schedules Gala Fireworks

The always colorful annual bazaar and fireworks display of Glasco Fire Company will be held this year on July 15 and 16, according to an announcement by chairman J. J. Fabiano, of the local fire company. Serving as general chairman of the double header event will be Anthony Riozzi.

For the fifth consecutive year, Riozzi, Fabiano and Chief Peter Cafaldo will team up to work on the bazaar and fireworks; are hopeful this year's program will be the biggest and best ever held by the company.

Fabiano said he and his two colleagues are well pleased with the responses of fellow firemen to work twice as hard at the bazaar in order to make up for the "rain out" experienced last year. The 1965 crowd was the largest ever to attend the events, but rain sent them home early. Nevertheless, the weather held off long enough to allow those attending an opportunity of seeing one of the finest displays of fireworks in the Hudson Valley. The crowd also had time to sample many, fine, homemade foods furnished by the fire company's Ladies Auxiliary.

Glasco firemen will canvass the district from June 24 to July 16 for donations. This is a once-a-year canvass and all residents are urged to contribute. Residents are also urged to attend the bazaar and bring along their friends.

The beach bench project being sponsored by the Rotary Club is completed with the exception of painting. Volunteers are needed for this work.

Members have been reminded that unpaid dues are currently being collected by Gerald Snyder, treasurer.

Vermont Youths Charged With Grand Larceny

Two teenage Vermont youths were in Dutchess County Jail today to await grand jury action on a felony charge of first degree grand larceny in connection with a car theft Monday night in that county.

Both Roy Allan Grant, 16, who gave his address as Green Acres Trailer Park, St. Johnsbury, and Michael Patrick Page 18, of West St. Derby, Vt., waived a preliminary hearing at their arraignment before Peace Justice George Harrington, Town of Rhinebeck.

State police from the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation arrested the youths who reportedly were escapees from a correctional institution in Vermont —about 11:30 Monday night in the Village Rhinebeck after a wave of car thefts in Vermont. They said that the youths allegedly stole a late model car earlier from Vergannes, Vt., and a pickup truck bearing California license plates which they abandoned in Cambridge, before taking another late model car owned by Donald Callahan, of Rhinecliff, from that village. That car was recovered later near the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

Trooper John C. McLean made the investigation and the arrests.

Vol Units Respond To Fire Alarm At Onteora School

Fire—believed to have been caused by a faulty oil burner in a boiler—resulted in minor damage late Monday afternoon in the Onteora Central School at Boiceville, Town of Olive.

Ulster County Mutual Aid dispatchers at fire control center said that three units responded to the 5:42 p. m. alarm. School was out of session at the time.

Olive Fire Chief Albert Fox told The Freeman that the school janitor discovered the boiler room full of smoke and sounded the alarm. Fire fighters from Boiceville Company 5; Shokan 2, and the Olivebridge emergency unit, responded and had to use air packs and two full tanks of water before bringing the emergency under control. Chief Fox said that a side of one of the boilers had been blackened and some oil had spread on the boiler room floor.

Olive firemen returned to service at 6:54 p. m.

Killed in Plunge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—William Adams, 17, of Manlius, was injured fatally Monday when he slipped and fell about 60 feet over a waterfall in suburban Manlius.

He had been swimming with youths above Brickyard Falls when the accident occurred. Adams was to graduate this month from Fayetteville-Manlius High School.

Driverless Car Injures Child

A Greene County child was injured when he was struck by a driverless car which had been parked in the family driveway off Route 145, Cairo, about 4:45 Monday afternoon.

State Police at the Leeds substation said that James Wood, 3, of the Cairo address, was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, for treatment of multiple contusions, cuts and abrasions, possible internal injuries and possible left leg fracture. Hospital officials told The Freeman this morning that the child was treated and released and was to return there today for X-rays.

Troopers said that Douglas Margiotta, 4, of Box 46, Oak Hill, entered the car of his father, Patrick Margiotta, which had been parked in the driveway of the Wood home where they had been visiting. They said that Douglas moved a gear shift lever from a parking position, causing the vehicle to roll back and strike the Wood boy, who was near the car. Trooper G. E. Davis investigated.

Car Strikes Deer, Driver Is Injured

The car of a Pennsylvania driver was slightly damaged when the vehicle struck a deer about 11:15 Monday night on Route 44-55 just east of Rt. 209 near Kerhonkson.

State Police at the Ellenville substation said that Edwin Kalemjian, 20, of West Chester, Pa., who was staying at the Minnewaska resort, said that he was rounding a curve when the animal ran into the path of his vehicle. The deer fled after the mishap.

Troopers R. R. Brooks and R. E. Pinnow investigated.

Camp Tri-Mount Opens for Season Soon; Staff Set

In less than two weeks, Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, will be welcoming its first group of Boy Scout campers for the 1966 season. Approximately 135 boys from Scout troops all over Ulster and Greene Counties will make up the first week's contingent. The camp staff is now complete, and, according to an announcement by camp director John Vliet, of Catskill, the staff will report to the camp this coming Sunday for a week of training and getting camp facitities in readiness for operation.

The 1966 season will see the addition of three new aluminum rowboats and two aluminum canoes to the camp fleet. It is expected that the NRA approved camp rifle range will be a center of increased activity, with the addition to the staff of a full-time rifle range director. Probably the most increased emphasis, however, will be the "on-camp" hiking and overnight outpost camping opportunities available to troops.

Under the supervision of John Helmer, Scoutmaster of Troop 17, Tillson, some of the Scouts from Troop 17 and the Southern Chapter, Order of the Arrow, have spent several winter and spring weekends at Camp Tri-Mount, blazing trails and locating outpost camp sites. As a result, there are several well-marked trails of varying difficulty right on camp property for troops or patrols to follow in testing hiking skills and stamina. There are also several outpost campsites located on camp property or on state land, very near to the camp boundary, for the troop or patrol that wants to spend a night or more on its own, away from the central camp area. All trails and outpost sites will be located on a small, duplicated map which will be provided to all Scoutmasters and other troop leaders.

The complete 1966 camp staff is made up of the following adults and young men: Asst. camp director and program director, Richard Nixdorf of Woodstock; rifle range director and camp commissioner, Henry Boucher of Shokan. Both of these men are faculty members of the Onteora Central School, Boiceville. Waterfront director, Andrew Angstom of Kingston, a senior at the State University of N. Y. at New Paltz; asst. waterfront director, Peter Wells of Troop 12, Kingston; waterfront assistants, Christopher Zell of Troop 6 in Kingston and Frank Raffaldi of Troop 66 in West Hurley; campcraft director, Theodore Smith Jr., of Troop 77 in New Paltz; campcraft asst., Wesley Clark of Troop 101 in Durham; nature director, Franklin Hayward, a teacher of biochemistry in New Boston, N. H.; nature asst., Jon Fox of Troop 66 in West Hurley.

Field sports director will be Bruce Safford, a freshman at the State Universiyt of New York at New Paltz; handicraft director, John Adsit, of Troop 63, Shokan; storekeeper, Michael Greenwald of Troop 12 Kingston; assistant program director and camp clerk, Russell Karkheck of Troop 101, Durham; ranger-driver, William L. Daum, a freshman at Paul Smith's College, Paul Smiths, N. Y.; provisional scoutmaster, Michael Angstrom of Kingston, a junior at Dutchess County Community College; and camp chaplain, the Rev. George Wood of Saugerties, a retired minister of the Reformed Church.

Also in 1966, there will be on the staff three counsellors-in-training, whose time will be divided during the summer between waterfront, campcraft and field sports and wherever their services are needed by the demands of the program. These boys are: Thomas Fitzgerald of Troop 18, Kingston; Allan Heinze of Troop 77, New Paltz; and John Karkheck of Troop 101, Durham.

Returns for Seventh Year

Returning for his seventh consecutive season as camp chef is the popular James Garland of Albany. Assisting him will be his nephews, Joseph Taylor and Gregory Sprague, both of Schenectady; Kenneth Petery of Post 70, Highland; and as dining hall steward, Robert Rhodes, also of Post 70.

Camp Trimount is owned and operated by the Rip Van Winkle Council, BSA, with headquarters in Kingston. The Council is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Senate Committee May Call Klein In Dodd Hearing

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee left unanswered today whether Julius Klein, Chicago public relations man, will be called to testify about his dealings with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd.

Chairman John Stennis, D-is not under subpoena. And when asked if Klein would be witness, Stennis said only that the committee will make that decision "when we get to it."

In an initial round of closed hearings, the committee set up to police senatorial ethics is inquiring into whether the Connecticut Democrat used his position as a senator to help Klein retain West German clients in return for expensive gifts and other favors.

This is one of the charges made against Dodd by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Both Klein and Dodd have denied the charges, and Dodd has filed a $2-million libel suit against the columnists. Klein is reported to be in Germany and not expected to return until mid-July.

Will Fix Bail For Morhouse Pending Appeal

NEW YORK (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Samuel M. Gold granted a certificate of reasonable doubt today in the bribery conviction of L. Judson Morhouse, permitting release of the former Republican state chairman in bail pending an appeal.

The amount of the bail was not immediately fixed.

Morhouse was sentenced last Wednesday to serve two to three years in prison on two felony counts in the bribery of Martin C. Epstein, former state liquor authority chairman, to obtain a liquor license for the Playboy Club.

Notes Source

Justice Gold said the bribing of Epstein "depended for its establishment solely upon the accomplices' testimony."

"A serious question is presented as to whether the non-accomplice evidence adduced at the trial was sufficient to establish the bribing of Epstein and defendant's connection therewith," the judge continued.

Gold said that without the accomplices' testimony, there was no evidence to establish that a bribe was actually received by Epstein or that Morhouse knew of such a bribe.

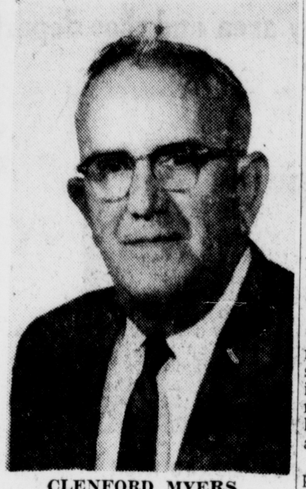

"It must be borne in mind (1) that the indictment made no charge that defendant's receipt of fees for attempting to obtain a liquor license for the Playboy Club was unlawful and (2) that his conviction was based solely on his participation in the achual giving of a bribe to Epstein," the justice said.

Instructed Jury

Gold noted that Justice Abraham J. Gellinoff, who imposed the prison term, in his charge instructed the jury that the testimony of accomplices was insufficient "to support a conviction unless corroborated by independent evidence tending 'to connect the defendant with the commission of the crime."

Gold said that some documentary evidence introduced by the state "failed to suggest that defendant's maneuvers at concealment were intended to do more than disguise the fact that defendant was selling his political influence."

J. Burch McMorran, State Superintendent of Public Works has listed details for 30 highway projects — including two in Ulster County — for which bids will be opened July 21.

One Ulster project involves the removal of 368 dead, dying or otherwise hazardous trees on various State roads in the county. Estimate listed was $25,000.

The other project consists of the cleaning and painting of the bridge over Rondout Creek on Route 9W in the Town of Esopus south of Kingston. Estimated cost of the project is $40,000.

Total estimated cost of the projects, which were announced last week by Governor Nelson D. Rockefeller, is $31,673,000 for work in 27 counties.

For local students, the only fee will be a registration charge of $3.00. The local student is one who lives within the Kingston Consolidated School District. Non-resident pupils enrolled will be required to pay a tuition of $25.00 per half-unit of credit or 2-hour course.

A tentative list of repeat courses offered for regents or school credit include: English 9, 10, 11, 12; Social Studies 9; World History; American History 1; General Science 9; General Math and Mechanical Drawing.

Courses offered for regents credit only: Biology; Elementary Algebra; Chemistry; Physics; Math 10; Math 11; Latin I, II; French I, II, III; Typewriting; Business Arithmetic and Drama.

The program will also have 7th and 8th grade sections of English, mathematics, social studies and science. Students for 7th and 8th grade should register in Hall B at Kingston High School.

In keeping with the current philosophy of the summer session, students will be afforded an opportunity to enroll in required elective subjects that may be difficult to schedule during the regular school year.

Some of the advanced courses offered may include: World History; American History I; Personal Typewriting; Typewriting I Beg. and End; Mechanical Drawing I and II; Health I and II; Business Arithmetic; World Literature; English and American Literature; Driver Education; Composition and Basic Russian.

In all the advanced courses, local students must have permission from the guidanc counselor in the school prior to registration day. Non-residents must have permission from their home school for both advanced and repeat courses.

A brochure with more complete information about courses, rules and regulations is available on request from William A. Scafidi, Summer School Principal.

Push for Passage

ture's rank and file over the tax agreement negotiated in three days of intense conferences at the Executive Mansion last week.

Selling Is Hard

Rockefeller, Brydges, Travia and New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay had hammered out a compromise tax package among themselves, but they found that selling it to the Legislature was another matter.

Passage of the city tax bills represented the major obstacle to adjournment of the 1966 session, already among the longest in the history of the Legislature — dating back to 1777.

The lawmakers still had unfinished business on the agenda, including the annual supplemental budget, revision of the new medical-aid law, curbs on public-employe strikes and aid for the City University of New York.

But Travia and Brydges expressed confidence that all of these hurdles could be cleared if only the city tax problem could be resolved.

Lindsay dissolved a major impediment Monday by agreeing reluctantly to put the proposed city income tax into effect on July 1. He had been pressing for authority to impose the levy retroactively to June 1, in hope of picking up another $14 million in revenue.

But GOP legislative leaders, backed by Rockefeller, insisted that no new tax should take effect until July 1, the start of the city's new fiscal year. Lindsay yielded to their insistence.

"It will mean that we will have a small shortage of revenue," said Lindsay in a statement issued in New York City.

Meanwhile, legislative leaders of both parties — in both houses — aired the city tax package in private conferences with their members Monday. They emerged unsmiling.

All of the leaders maintained they had not sought commitments from their members.

Informed sources reported, however, that rank - and - file members expressed the customary reluctance to vote for higher taxes in an election year. All seats in the Legislature will be up for grabs in November.

In addition, some members involved in primary contests for renomination urged that a vote on the city tax package should be put off until the June 28 primary election has passed.

Rockefeller told newsmen he hoped the matter would be disposed of before the primary.

A source close to Rockefeller said that, if the vote were delayed until after the primary, he doubted that the tax package could win enough support for passage. Rockefeller was said to fear that New York City lawmakers would commit themselves — in the heat of primary campaigning — to voting against any tax increases.

Others More Spectacular

Gives Analysis of Historic Decisions by Supreme Court

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court gave some historic decisions in the 1965-66 term which ended Monday even though this was not its most spectacular session.

Its major actions, following the liberal direction of a dozen years, were in the field of rights.

Extended Rights

The court extended and protected an individual's rights against the power and machinery of government; the right to a fair trial; to keep quiet and have a lawyer in a police station; and to free speech.

The court not only knocked out the poll tax payment as a requirement for voting but, in upholding sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, opened the way for more thousands to vote, particularly Negroes.

In this the court supported President Johnson, who called for the 1965 law, and Congress which passed it.

Nevertheless, these decisions, far-reaching as they were, were not as sensational as some others these past 12 years. the ban on public school segregation; reapportionment of state legislatures; separation of church and state by banning compulsory school prayers.

9 Were Liberal

Although a majority of five of the nine justices usually are considered liberal and the other four more conservative, some of the decisions looked upon as liberal would have been impossible without some of the conservatives because now and again a liberal justice said no.

This year the Court went further than ever in protecting a person arrested as a crime suspect — against forced confessions — by ruling he must be told by police he doesn't have to answer questions and must be given a lawyer if he wants one but can't afford one.

The court then said this strict limit on the use of confessions at trials applies only to cases where the trial began after the decision, which was on June 13.

And the court put a flat responsibility on trial judges everywhere to conduct fair trials when it ruled Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who had served nine years for the bludgeon-slaying of his wife, didn't get one.

Cites Trial

The court said the judge in Sheppard's case let newsmen turn the trial into a carnival.

In still another case the court said defense counsel may not waive his client's constitutional right to plead innocent, to have a trial, and to cross-examine witnesses.

And a ban was put on any sentence over six months for criminal contempt in federal court unless the defendant gets a jury trial or waives it.

Payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in federal elections was outlawed by the Constitution's 24th Amendment, adopted in 1964. But the court banned it in state elections, too.

It didn't use the 24th Amendment but the 14th, saying poll taxes in state elections violate the 14th, which guarantees all citizens equal protection under law, whenever it makes the "affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an election standard."

In Obscenity Field

Dipping into the obscenity field, the court ruled that sexy tracts designed to exploit their "salacious appeal" may be banned from the mails. This may have to be explained further. It caused confusion.

In another case the court reaffirmed its opinion that a public official cannot collect for libel unless he can prove actual malice.

Many more thousands of voters can cast a ballot because the court approved sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act giving Congress the right to suspend state literacy tests and similar voting qualifications and to authorize the attorney general to appoint federal examiners to register qualified voters in various parts of the country.

Mayor Lauds Graduation

Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has written Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of Ulster County Community College, lauding the college on the first graduation exercises it had June 5 at Kingston High School.

Here is the text of his letter:

"I have attended many commencement exercises in my time. The program for the Class of 1966 was excellent.

"Ulster County was fortunate that it was able to obtain your services for the new venture in the field of higher education. I well know the obstacles that you had to overcome in the development of your plans.

"Your friend, Dr. Glenn A. Olds is a real personality; his talk to the students, 'A Gown on the Town' was original, interesting and inspiring."

SGO Officers Elected

Carlo N. Castiglione Jr., 102 Greenkill Avenue was elected president of the Student Government Organization in the spring election at Ulster County Community College.

Neil LeFevre, 1 Orchard Street, Hurley, was elected vice president, while Rudy Firmback Jr., Ulster Park, was elected treasurer.

The winners of the scholarships will be selected by the College Scholarship Committee.

Although registration applications have been going at a fast rate for courses in the September semester at Ulster County Community College, Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president, said there still are openings in the Engineering Science and Mechanical Technology programs.

To Attend Clinic

Albert DiBernardo, assistant professor of health and physical education at Ulster County Community College, has been named as a specialist to attend a bowling clinic at the State University College at Cortland, September 8-10.

When he returns from the session, he will conduct local bowling clinics in the Kingston area.

Field Trip Sets Sights on Moth

The John Burroughs Natural History Society invites anyone interested in observing the Gypsy Moth population to attend a field trip Saturday, June 25. Dr. Alfred Adams, an agricultural entomologist of the Cornell Experiment Station at Highland, and Daniel Smiley, naturalist of Lake Mohonk, who has made extensive studies of the Gypsy Moth, will be the leaders for this field trip. The participants will observe the rise and decline of the Gypsy Moth cycle.

It is suggested that participants bring a lunch. The trip will be mostly by car. The group will meet at 10 a. m. at the junction of Routes 299 and 44-55 (Minnewaska Trail).

This should be a very interesting trip in view of all the controversy concerning the Gypsy Moth problem these past few years, the Society feels.

CHANNEL CHATTER

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television took humorist Sam Levenson out of the New York public school system — but show business obviously failed to take the teacher out of Levenson.

Father of a teen-age child, Levenson frets about the relationship of television and school, and winds up being critical of parents, pedagogues and commercial broadcasting.

"In 100 years of free compulsory education we have never prepared most children to be readers and thinkers," Levenson says without his familiar beaming smile. "We have laid a big fat egg in turning out millions of kids who just want to be amused."

Levenson believes that it is essential for the public schools to "teach kids to watch television."

"Why don't all the schools supply the students with 'preferred viewing lists?'" he asked. "Television supplies its own teachers for the children — the ones who want them to buy something. And, to me, the sad truth is that the schools, which have something exciting to sell, don't know how to do it as well as television does.'

Levenson, surprisingly, does not worry about violence.

"I don't think TV breeds violence," he continued with considerable fire. "I think it breeds passivity. When kids see real violence, it seems like something they've seen on a TV screen, and instead of reacting to it they just watch quietly and wait for the commercial, knowing that it will turn out all right in the end with the good guys winning."

The evil in television, as Levenseon sees it, is that practically the sole motivation in viewing is amusement.

"Does the industry—commercial television—have a right only to amuse?" he asked. "Maybe they have. But on the other hand, I as a father, have the right to refuse to let them educate my children."

Levenson may be disturbed by TV's incidental role in children's education, but the record indicates that the past of elementary school children has grown more sophisticated over a 15 year period.

In a study by Paul Witty of Northwestern University (made before the advent of "Batman") it was found that the most popular children's shows last year were "The Man from U. N. C. L. E.," "Bewitched," "Shindig," "The Addams Family," "Bonanza" and "My Favorite Martian," every one, it should be noted, produced for the family audience, not particularly for young children.

Fifteen years ago the five favorite programs were "Crusader Rabbit," "Hopalong Cassidy," "Wild Bill Hickok," "Howdy Doody," the "Uncle Mistletoe," all designed for the very young.

Set Pilot Course For Nurses, Aides

A pilot program of intensified professional training for nurses and psychiatric aids will be conducted at Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie, commencing July 1.

This program is one of eight to be conducted in New York State Hospitals and State Schools, and is being financed by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

The eight inservice training grants will be used in large part to employ instructional staff and college and university faculty as special consultants in an effort to improve patient care by better education of psychiatric aids and nurses, who have the most constant contact with patients. Major emphasis in the training courses will be upon developing deeper understanding of the creative roles nurses and psychiatric aids can take as members of therapy teams, and on the best use of available community resources to help patients recover.

In drawing attention to the above program, Mrs. Diana M. Geiger, executive secretary of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, also pointed out that there is, in addition, a regular School of Nursing in conjunction with the Hudson River State Hospital, and that increasing developments and opportunities in psychiatric nursing, make this an especially worth-while career, for both men and women.

Buffalo Editor Is New President

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Society of Newspaper Editors today elected as its president Paul E. Neville, executive editor of The Buffalo Evening News.

Neville succeeds Mason C. Taylor, executive editor of The Utica Observer - Dispatch and Press.

Other officers elected at the closing session of the society's two-day meeting:

Vice president, Maurice D. Herbert, executive editor of The Newburgh News; secretary-treasurer, Alan J. Gould Jr., editor of The Oneonta Star; directors, Harold E. Addington, chief editorial writer, The Syracuse Herald-Journal, and Leonard G. Feldmann, managing editor of The Buffalo Courier-Express.

The editors were told by Al Neuharth, general manager of the Rochester Gannett newspapers, that to ensure growth of a new or established newspaper "everthing must start with the reader."

Neuharth, who also is president of the Florida Gannett Newspapers, said that newspapers have an entirely different kind of audience with different interests than they had 10 or 20 years ago and that many newspapers were outdated as to their news or editorial product.

BUY ENLISTMENT: In the army a soldier who tries to avoid unpleasant duty is referred to as a "gold brick." It started with the former legal practice of soldiers being able to buy off their enlistments (or draft call) by hiring a substitute. This was in effect as late as the Civil War.

Recruiters Having Trouble Getting Graduates for Jobs

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The draft — and the threat of service in Viet Nam — has put a crimp in company recruiting of June college graduates.

An Associated Press survey of company officials and college placement directors found that the draft, the rush to graduate schools and the boom in jobs left recruiters far short of the men they needed.

"This has been one of the toughest years in recent history from the employer's standpoint," said Bill Herman, U.S. Steel Corp. college relations director in Pittsburgh.

Lewis Guthrie, International Business Machines district manager in Miami, said:

"There is a large increase in the number of boys who are going to graduate school to escape the war in Viet Nam. They are very frank about it."

Guthrie said it had cut the number of graduates available at a time when the competition between firms for new men was getting stiffer anyway.

"There were only about 30,000 undergraduate engineering degrees awarded this year, a figure that hasn't changed in recent years," said Robert Becker, manager of professional employment at the Aluminum Company of America, Pittsburgh. "There are fewer people available for more jobs."

Many Unfilled Requests

Peter Frederickson, Boston University placement counselor, said: "I have a drawer full of unfilled requests, and I understand the same situation prevails in practically all colleges in the country. There are more

"I don't know of any company able to obtain its quota of new men," a spokesman for Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh said.

One reason: industry recruiters must compete with the Peace Corps and VISTA, as well as the military, said Mrs. Nansi Corson of the University of California at Berkeley.

Some colleges suggested students were offering a cold shoulder to business because their youthful idealism makes the Peace Corps more attractive.

California, the University of California at Los Angeles and Cleveland State University reported that, with the short supply of men graduates, companies were showing increased interest in women.

Salaries Increase

Salaries offered generally were up 4 to 10 per cent over 1965.

The college placement council in Bethlehem, Pa., reported the national average monthly salary offered chemical engineers was $677, up from $673 last year.

Boston University reported engineering graduates were offered from $6,500 to $9,500 a year, economics graduates about $6,200, and journalism $3,900 to $8,000 — and more.

"Grads are not asking for more, but the companies are more competitive," said J. William Paquette of Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa.

Companies reported students were less interested in fringe benefits.

Raytheon Co., Lexington, Mass., said only one boy asked about a profit-sharing plan, and that graduates generally give only minor consideration to fringe benefits.

"Fringe benefits are of little concern to grads at this stage of life, but companies have to promise the location they want," reported California State College at Los Angeles. "Our students won't leave California, and usually not even Southern California."

But at Georgia State College, Ben Upchurch, placement director, said: "Each year the students are becoming more mobile. We have a number of students working in the East now. Relocation is no longer a problem."

Many companies, as a result, stress the locations of their plants in the tons of recruiting booklets — and advertising — they distribute.

He says Republic's ratio of acceptances to job offers dropped from about 50 per cent to 35 this year.

Collins Radio Corp., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, however, has government contracts, and thus held out the lure of possible draft deferment — something that ultimately is up to the local draft boards.

L.R. Nuss, Collins' College relations and professional employment manager, said most firms go 60 to 75 per cent of their quotas this year, but his firm got 135 — twice 1965.

Want to Avoid Draft

"I don't think there is any question that some students are going into graduate school and looking for deferred occupations to avoid the draft," said William Goodwin, placement director at Temple University, Philadelphia.

Frank S. Endicott, Northwest University placement director, Evanston, Ill., said he was sure there was some of that, but for the most part students were going to graduate school "because they feel it is the wisest thing to do in terms of their long-range plans."

"Unfortunately, educational motives are not always present when a student applies for graduate school," said Cecil Simpson, graduate placement director at Emory University in Georgia.

Seeks Designation On Liberal Ticket

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Daniel E. Button, former executive editor of the Albany Times-Union, awaited today a Court of Appeals decision on his bid as Liberal Party candidate for the 29th congressional district.

The Appellate Division, State Supreme Court, reversed a previous court decision Monday and upheld Button's designation as the party candidate. That ruling cleared the way for a decision by the state's highest court.

Button also seeks the Republican designation in the district, which is composed of Albany and Schenectady counties and part of Rensselaer County.

Last week, Justice Russell G. Hunt of State Supreme Court upheld an objection by the chairman of the Albany County Liberal Party, James H. Hayes, to Button's running as a Liberal.

Convicted Murderer Awarded New Trial

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — The Montana Supreme Court authorizes Charles E. Corliss of Fulton, N.Y., to seek a new trial in the district court that convicted him of kidnaping and murder.

The case was sent back Monday to Lewis and Clark County District Court because of an affidavit by David C. Walters of Keyes, Okla, that he lied when he implicated Corliss in the crime.

Walters is serving life plus 20 years for the abduction-slaying of Donald C. Hammer, 48, of Lincoln, Mont., whose body was found nears Rogers Pass last Sept. 18.

Corliss, about 24, is serving life plus 10 years for the same crime. He has appealed his conviction.

Walters had testified at the trial that Corliss fired the fatal shot last Sept. 14.

In his affadavit, Walters said: "I cannot sleep with the thought of this false testimony on my conscience, and an innocent man should not be in the penitentiary because of my perjury."

Vols Will Hear Topic by Sheriff, Convention Plans

Prior to the June business meeting of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association this evening at Napanoch Firehouse, Sheriff William B. Martin will be present to demonstrate and discuss the working of the two bloodhounds which he has acquired. The demonstration will take place at 7:30 o'clock prior to the regular meeting at 8 o'clock.

Use of the dogs will primarily center around the tracking of lost persons and since volunteer firemen are frequently called into service as members of search parties, Sheriff Martin is cooperating closely with the firemen of the county.

At the regular session a considerable amount of business will be transacted including discussion of final plans for the annual convention to be held in Kingston next month. A opportunity to secure tickets for the 31st annual banquet to be held at Elmer's Inn Thursday night, July 28, will be given at this meeting. Members must be in good standing in order to attend the banquet. The business meeting will be held Friday, July 29, at which time officers will be elected. The session will close on Saturday, July 30, with the big parade being staged in Kingston.

Marchers End 17½-Mile Hike In Mississippi

By DON MCKEE

LOUISE, Miss. (AP) — H. L. Montgomery says he "had a intuition" that the Mississippi civil rights marchers would come by to see him.

That was two weeks ago, he says, and before the march leaders decided to desert U.S. 51 —the route from Memphis Tenn., to Jackson planned by James H. Meredith—and meander through the Mississippi countryside.

The marchers ended their most uneventful and longest day's trek—17½ miles—late Monday pitching their three tents on the hardpacked ground of a big hog lot on Montgomery's farm located just outside this community of 481 persons.

The New York Committee for the Meredith March said 43 persons had registered to fly to Mississippi Friday night to join the final two days of the march. The committee said it expected 100 more.

Seventeen white men go on trial on federal charges Sept. 26 at Meridian in connection with the murders at Philadelphia of James Chaney, a Mereidian Negro, and Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner, both white and from New York.

The marchers are a day ahead of the timetable made last week by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who was due back Monday from Detroit but didn't arrive.

"I'm used to having company but I ain't never had this much before," said Montgomery, a Negro with freckles splattered across his broad brow.

About 250 arrived after a 100-steps-a-minute march from Belzoni. They passed quickly through the communities of Silver City, pop. 431 and Midnight, pop. 400. They encountered less than 100 people throughout the day.

Montgomery is one of the biggest landowners—white or Negro—around Louise. He and his family have 750 acres. He was born on the land, which his father, once a slave, acquired after the Civil War.

He lives in a comfortable frame home, raises cattle, pigs and poultry; he grows cotton, beans and corn. He has 15 Negro employes. "I make most of my money on furs — $40,000 to $50,000 a year for a 60-day season."

Gubernatorial Hopeful

Samuels Proposes Another Democratic Party Forum

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)-A fifth Democratic Party forum for gubernatorial candidates before delegates to the party's state nominating convention has been proposed by Canandaigua industrialist Howard J. Samuels.

Samuels, one of five gubernatorial hopefuls speaking Monday at a forum here--the fourth and last of a planned series -- said the extra hearing should take place before the convention, possibly in late August.

He said the delegates could meet and conduct a secret preferential vote for the candidate to receive the party's nomination to oppose Republic Gov. Rockefeller.

The state convention will be in Buffalo Sept. 7 and 8.

Other speakers before 2,000 persons at the forum were Council President Frank D. O'Connor of New York City, County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson of Nassau, County Executive H. Lee Dennison of Suffolk and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

During a question-and-answer period, O'Connor defended the continuance of 15-cent subway fares in New York City despite higher public transit fares up - state. "If the fares go up in New York," he said, "more cars will travel the already choked streets."

Samuels said he would work to repeal the Feinberg Law, which makes it mandatory for school employes to swear they are not members of the Communist Party. He described the law as "degrading." He also proposed appointment of deputy governors to coordinate state programs.

Roosevelt said a basic fault of the Democrats in past gubernatorial elections was that "we have gone to the people with only criticism and not programs."

He charged that Rockefeller was "incapable" of working with either the federal government or the localities of the state.

Nickerson described New York State government during the Rockefeller years as "A floating dice game--located in any room where three men could get together--the three men who have consistently placed their selfish ambitions above the needs of the people of our state."

He identified the three men as Rockefeller, State GOP chair - man Carl Spad and former Republican chairman L. Judson Morehouse, who was recently convicted in a bribe case.

Nickerson, Roosevelt, O'Connor and Dennison indicated they believed the state's controversial medical aid law should be al - lowed to stand until the state has more experience with it.

But Samuels criticized the program, asserting it may even - tually coast up to $1.5 billion. Rockefeller's estimate of the first-year cost is $532 million.

Dennison said New York State government must "be rescued from drifting deterioration." He offered to "help build faith in the state."

U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy introduced the candidates. It marked his first public appearance since returning from a tour of Africa, but the senator kept brief so as not to detract attention from the candidates.

Upstate Democrats Endorse O'Connor

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)— The Warren County Democratic organization is the third Upstate county unit to endorse Frank D. O'Connor, New York City Council president, in his bid for the gubernatorial nomination.

County Chairman Robert F. Cronin sent a telegram to O'Connor Monday informing him that the county's 24-member executive committee had given the Queens Democrat unanimous endorsement at a meeting Friday.

O'Connor earlier had received pledges of support from Saratoga and Genesee counties and his home county of Queens.

Altogether, O'Connor, an undeclared candidate has endorsements representing 141 delegates, with 573 needed to win the nomination.

No other candidate has received public commitments of delegate support thus far.

The Warren County Democratic resolution expressed "wholehearted support" for O'Connor and urged the county's three delegates to vote for him at the party nomination convention to be held in Buffalo in September.

Alarm Governor Over Discord On City Taxes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The rumblings of rank-and-file discontent over the New York City tax program reflect the normal legislative reluctance to raise any form of taxes in an election year.

Discord in both houses of the politically split Legislature swelled loud enough Monday to alarm Gov. Rockefeller and the Assembly's Democratic speaker, Anthony J. Travia.

Asked whether the lawmakers would pass the city tax-package, including a city income levy and an "earnings" tax on commuters, Rockefeller told newsmen: "I think it's going to be very difficult."

Said Travia, in reply to the same question, "It's always a problem."

As they waited for the legislative high command to put the finishing touches on the tax bills, many disgruntled legislators weighed the choices between party loyalty and their own political futures as determined by the outcome of the June 28 primary.

For many representatives of suburban districts that would be affected by approval of a commuter earnings tax, the imminence of the primary election bore special meaning.

Those suburban legislators faced with contests in the primary have little stomach for enacting a tax on commuters less than a week before asking for election support.

Outside the ranks of the New York City commuter representatives, many Upstate lawmakers keyed their attitudes to the widespread furor over passage of the controversial medical assistance program.

Sensitive to criticism that the medical aid program is too liberal in its income-limitations, a substantial number of Upstate legislators are anxious to duck the "big-spender" label.

Even though the New York City proposals apparently involve no significant state contribution, the legislators approached them warily.

"We don't quite know how," one veteran member of the Upstate delegation said Monday, "but a lot of us are just a little afraid that the state may be left holding the bag on this thing."

Rocky Lists New York City As Residence

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, an infrequent occupier of the Executive Mansion, admits he will have to be considered a New York City resident—at least for tax purposes.

In answer to questions whether he would have to pay the city's newly planned commuter tax, Rockefeller suggested Monday that he would be subject to the proposed city income tax instead.

He noted that the income tax legislation would apply to anyone who maintains a home or apartment in the city and spends more than 180 days there annually.

"You would have to prove that you did not spend that much time there," he said. "So I would be considered a resident of New York City."

Rockefeller spends little time in Albany, preferring to work from a New York City office that he maintains from his personal, multi-million-dollar fortune.

He keeps a Fifth Avenue apartment, in addition to hi home on the Rockefeller famil estate, near Tarrytown, which i his legal address for voting pur poses.

As governor, he draws a sala ry of $50,000 a year. His privat annual income from invest ments and other family enter rprises is believed to run into th millions.

The proposed city income ta would-range up to two per cen of net income.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —Tight money is damned and praised these days. It's either a salvation for the economy or a threat to it.

But many an individual who has been turned down for a loan or been charged much heftier interest than he previously paid is just plain perplexed. With highly touted prosperity on all sides of him and money seemingly sprouting everywhere, why suddenly should be be told that money is tight and may get tighter?

Here are some simplified answers to the questions he's asking:

Tight Money Named

Q. What is tight money?

A. When the demand for credit increases faster than the supply of money to lend, you have what bankers call tight money. Credit demand may be for running a business, expanding a business, financing purchase of a house, a car, or a vacation trip.

Q. How is the supply of money figured?

A. The national supply is the amount of money in circulation plus checking account deposits in banks. It's the money in your pocket or the money you can lay your hands on quickly.

Q. Does tight money just happen?

A. No. It usually builds up with considerable warning. Or it is imposed by the monetary managers to curb what they consider economic excesses. The supply of credit that banks can led is controlled to a large degree by the Federal Reserve Banks. Demand for credit may stem from the government, from businessmen anxious to expand their activities or plants, from consumers who suddenly increase their desire to enjoy now and pay later.

Levels Determined

Q. Who determines whether money and credit will be tighter or easier?

A. The administration, Congress and the Federal Reserve, whether acting together or at cross purposes. The administration and Congress could turn the printing presses on high speed and furnish lots of paper money — although its value might drop fast.

Q. Why is money called tight now?

A. The money supply, which jumped 14 per cent at an annual rate in April, fell 11 per cent in May. Demand for loans, rising steadily for months, is very high in June as corporations have to pay larger federal tax bills and also pay withholding taxes to the Treasury on a stepped-up schedule.

Q. Will money get tigher?

A. Probably, for a while. Corporations need more money.

But the Federal Reserve, and the administration and Congress, are still afraid of more inflation ahead.

They want to head off a speculative splurge by keeping money moderately tight.

In 1898, the first U.S. troops arrived in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1919, the German high fleet of World War I was scuttled at Scapa Flow.

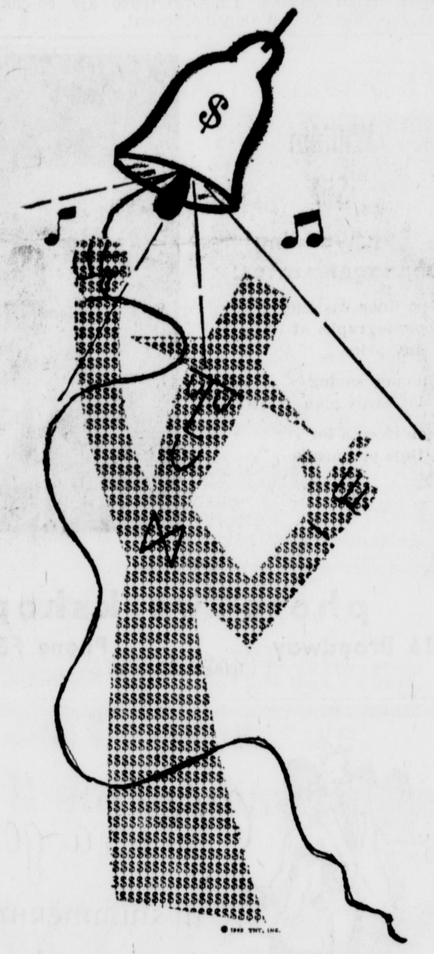

In 1942, the Nazis captured the Libyan stronghold of Tobruk.

In 1944, a great armada of American planes attacked Berlin—the German capital.

Ten years ago — Communist East Germany announced the release of 19,064 persons from prisons, accusing the regime's own justice minister and chief prosecutor of unjustified arrests and too ruthless and administration of justice.

Five years ago — Washington sent a note to United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold accusing a Czech diplomat at the U.N. of being the head of a big Czechoslovak espionage ring in the United States. Less than a week earlier the United States had ordered the expulsion from this country of the Czech diplomat.

Award Winning Play Opens Wdsk. Season; Will Be Staged Through Sunday, June 26

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Take an ageless theme (the family) rewrite it, wrap it up neatly with a bright new ribbon and you, too, may have a Pulitzer Prize and Critics Award play. Such is the case with Frank D. Gilroy's THE SUBJECT IS ROSES which opend the summer season at the Woodstock Playhouse on Saturday, June 19. The "older than Methusalah" plot is masterfully retold by Gilroy and for the philosophical, soul-searching theatre-goer it is meat and drink.

The setting of Gilroy's play is 1946 and the subject, while not roses, is a contemporary one—the psychological and social conditioning of a middle class family.

In two acts, three composite charcters—mother,father and son—unfold a series of moods and situations which have audience appeal because the truths revealed are not mythical but are realistic components of life as lived by many.

SUBJECT IS ROSES is not a romantic play. It is truth retold. A story of survival in a "jungle world" created by our own fears and frustrations. It is a play about the least understood phenomenon on earth—the human.

The three actors chosen by M. Edgar Rosenblum, executive director, to portray the characters in Gilroy's tragically funny drama, handled their parts skillfully and provided a smooth flow of action on stage.

Albert Patterson, who has appeared on television, screen and radio, not to mention the Broadway stage, is cast as the father and is by far the most outstanding performer in this vehicle. He projects the characterization of a man who clings to respectibility by adhering to decadent traditionalism. It is only after his son's army release that he achieves a closer relationship with his offspring but he cannot fathom his son's new-found attitudes about life and things held sacred.

Antoinette Kray, who has appeared in several off-Broadway productions, very capably portrays a dowdy, uninteresting housefrau who never learned to cut her own family umbilical cord. As a married woman, she clings unrealistically to the past never desiring to chart a new way of life with her husband and child. Rejection of a lake house purchased by her husband is only one indication of her inability to function as a wholesome woman. She is unable to change because it would cast her adrift from the demands of her relatives. In short, the mother in Gilroy's play becomes a prisoner of her own making.

Gary Campbell as the son whose taste of freedom from the family ghetto awakens new drives within him, is a creditable actor.

As mentioned, the plot is not new. Family life, its weaknesses, drawbacks, frustrations, and benefits, gets a microscopic examination at the hands of the author. His characters play the game of rationality when, in fact, they live lives of dilemma. They exude unhappiness for they do not understand the makings of their own cacoons nor how to break out of them.

Their problems are not unique to the stage. Look around you. You will find these traits in countless peoples—all afraid to live life—all afraid to let go of that which is familiar to them in order to find new ways, new routes, new horizons.

Subject Is Roses is a lesson on life complete with thorns. It will be staged at the Woodstock Playhouse through Sunday, June 26 under the direction of Harold Baldridge.

On June 28, a bright comedy The Owl and the Pussycat will be presented.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

BUSINESS BELONGS IN THE OFFICE; BOSS'S CALLS ANNOY THE FAMILY

Dear Mrs. Post: Yesterday, while entertaining at a dinner party in my home, my husband's boss called on the telephone just as we had begun to eat. He frequently telephones my husband at home with matters which could easily wait until working hours. I explained to him that we had dinner guests, that we were then eating, and asked if my husband might return his call later. Now I am not sure that I acted within the bounds of good etiquette. S. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: You were quite correct in asking your husband's boss if your husband might return his call later. If the matter were of such urgency that it could not wait, I'm sure he would have told you. Too many bosses feel they have a right to call their employes at any time of the day or night. This is an extremely inconsiderate habit—except in emergencies, a man's time at home should be his own.

Matron of Honor's Job Not for Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to be married this summer. My dad is not alive and my brother will be giving me away. Would it be permissible to have my mother as my matron of honor?. Mildred.

Dear Mildred: It would not be appropriate to have your mother as matron of honor. This office should be filled by a relative or friend of approximately your own age. Your mother should sit in the front pew on the left side of the church, to be joined there by your brother after he gives you away.

Who Receives Sympathy Cards?

Dear Mrs. Post: The mother of a friend of mine died recently. My friend is married. I sent a sympathy card to her alone. Was thi. correct, or should I have addressed it to Mr. and Mrs.?. Patricia Moore.

Dear Mrs. Moore: You were absolutely correct to address your card to your friend alone. Sympathy notes are generally sent to the one who is related.

Interviews Slated For Architects on UCCC Campus Work

Chairman Kenneth L. Davenport has stated that the Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College is making plans to interview architects for Phase II of the development of the college campus at Stone Ridge.

"Any area architects interested in the project should communicate with the college office," said Mr. Davenport.

On May 12, the Ulster County Board of Supervisors authorized development of Phase II of the Stone Ridge campus. It empowered the college trustees to enter into an agreement with an architect of their choice for the planning and construction of additional facilities at Stone Ridge pursuant to the master plan.

Construction of the first phase of the master plan, including four buildings, now is under way at Stone Ridge. They are a Library Building, a Science Building a Business Studies Building and an All-Purpose Building.

The scope of the first phase of construction at Stone Ridge will be inadequate to meet the anticipated enrollment and curriculum growth of the college. And the new buildings now under construction will be filled to capacity and will be inadequate to meet the colleges needs even when the doors are opened to the first students next year.

For this reason, the college's trustees informed the Board of Supervisors of the need to build another four buildings to complete the master plan to keep pace with the growing student enrollment.

The four buildings slated for construction in the second phase of the master plan are a Technology Building, a Creative Arts Classroom Building, a Classroom Building and a Health Center-Student Center-Assembly Building, along with site development.

List Program Directors for County's 4-H Club Camp; Season Starts June 26

For three weeks beginning June 26, the 60 acres which make up the Ulster County 4-H Camp will be alive with the activities of the eighth camping season. The camp is situated north of New Paltz and will be the temporary home of approximately 105 campers during the three one-week sessions.

Ten cabins and three tents will provide sleeping space for the campers. The camp facilities also include a crafts pavilion, an infirmary, a 20-by-50-foot swimming pool, and a dining recreation lodge. There is a large recreation area which is divided among baseball, volleyball, horseshoes, archery, riflery, and other outdoor activities.

A large staff was chosen this year to provide the campers with mature leadership and specialized training. Mr. and Mrs. Leland Heinze of New Paltz are the directors of the camp. Heinze is a member of the Journalism Department at the State University College at New Paltz and one of the innovations he plans to bring about is a camp newspaper. Mrs. Heinze has her masters degree in guidance and teaches in the Highland School District.

James Rattray, who has been a member of the staff since 1962, will be assistant director. Known at camp as "Uncle Jamie", he will supervise recreation and evening programs. In previous years he has helped to plan carnivals, Indian campfires, and talent shows. He has completed his junior year at Kenyon College in Ohio.

A former 4-H member from New Paltz, Denise Franklin, will act as program director. She will plan flag ceremonies, vespers, and help with the evening programs. The vespers service is held at dusk each evening and provides a spiritual moment in the camper's day. She will be a junior at Albertus Magnus College in New Haven, Conn.

Linda McCord, a senior home economics major at the State University College at Oneonta, will be in charge of the crafts program. The campers may work with copper enameling, leathercraft, boondoggling, woodwork, and other crafts. Linda is a former 4-H member from Wallkill. Mrs. William Warren of High Falls and Mrs. V. E. Fox of Olive Bridge will assist her.

Mrs. Robert Toogood and Mrs. Herbert Klippel, both of Port Ewen, will cook for the campers. Three meals and an evening snack are provided each day.

Name Life Guard

The waterfront will be directed by Mrs. Dale Farrow of New Paltz, who teaches Red Cross swimming from beginner to life saver. She is qualified to give Red Cross swimming certificates. She also acts as life guard for free swim where the "buddy system" is enforced.

Miss Janet Dolan, a recent graduate of the State University College at Oneonta, will be camp nurse. Besides her duties in the camp infirmary she is responsible for teaching Red Cross courses in first aid, home nursing and child care.

Mrs. Thurlow Weed Jr., of New Paltz and Miss Sandra Hagen of Vestal will be in charge of the camp conservation program. In previous years, the campers have constructed paths and bridges through the woods. They have labeled the trees along the path, learning something of the camp environment. The conservation program also includes bird watching hikes, the construction of bird houses and terariums, and instructions in woodland safety. Some campers are also given an opportunity to take an overnight hike.

Miss Sally Dolan, a student at the State University College at Alfred, will be lodge hall hostess. In this capacity, she will supervise the campers assigned to set up, serve, and clean up meals. Campers take turns accepting these responsibilities throughout the week.

Members of the staff will take charge of a cabin. During the two hours of free time in the afternoon, the staff member, with the cabin, may do whatever the cabin wishes. This time could be used to take a hike, plan a skit, challenge another cabin to softball, or take part in organized recreation. The staff member also sleeps in the cabin, insuring discipline and safety.

Assistants Listed

Older 4-H members who attend camp will participate in the PAL program. These campers are Program Assistant Leaders and help the staff as assistant counselors in the cabin and will supervise the programs during the day. Selected to take part in this program are: Jan Abrahamsen, Fran Embree, Jayne Lyke, Charles Van Alst, and Susan Stauning, pool assistants; Jill Abrahamsen, Georgia Ransom, Carol Romer, Anna Mary Portz, and Kathie Schoonmaker, infirmary assistants; Arthur Boice, Sandra Graff, Ann Van Alst, and Pratt Boice, conservation assistants; Michael Caulfield, outside area maintenance; Barbara DeVoe and Jane Webster, kitchen helpers; Elizabeth Edmunds and Christine Juban, recreation assistants; Jean Embree, Gioia Marchetti, Valerie Nolan, Anna Mary Portz, Betsy Raymond, Judith Wright, Lorreta Martin, Diane Palen, Bonnie Bollin, Sue Lang and Michael Warren, crafts assistants; Rei Reynolds, pool maintenance assistant; Kevin Robinson, kitchen area maintenance; and Sue Lang, Sharon Noetzel, and Ruth Scherer, dining hall assistants.

The campers are 4-H members who have reached the age of nine. There are a number of scholarships granted each year by various civic organizations. Scholarships are also awarded to a boy and a girl from each camping session who are voted "honor campers" by the other campers and the staff.

A report will be given at the close of camp concerning the activities of this season.

VIRGINIA DIEHL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diehl, 32 Vincent Street, Kingston, will be among the candidates for graduation at the 109th commencement exercises of Albany Business College on Saturday, June 25. Miss Diehl has completed studies in the executive secretarial field.

The 1965 City Softball League champion Royal Dukes are making like they're still the team to beat in 1966.

Yesterday, they got a gilt-edge 2-hit pitching stint from George Norton in a 5-0 shutout of Amato's Atlantic to move into a flat-footed tie for the league lead with Armstrong's at 5-0.

Norton, hailed by the Dukes as the best softball pitcher in the area, limited Amato's to singles by Joe Clausi and John Crespino and allowed only two balls to reach the outfield. The Dukes collected seven hits off Mike Amato, including a single and double by Vince Smedes. Rich Amato and Joe Tremper bagged a pair of singles apiece.

Subways in Romp

Subway Grill collected 14 hits, including three home runs to rout Mets, 19-1, behind the 4-hit pitching of Bud Lasher and Vince Peck. A solo homer by Horvers in the second inning accounted for the Mets tally.

Joe Hoffman, Ronnie Cole and J. Gohl slammed homers for Subways. Hoffman also belted a triple. George Fisher stroked three singles. The win was the fifth in seven decisions for Subways and solidified their hold on third place with a 5-2 record.

Gordon's Bar moved over the .500 mark with a 6-4 win over Cordts Hose. Don Davis was the winner on a 10-hitter. He helped his own cause with a home run. John Miller hit a double.

Junior Tennis Stars Qualify for Jaycees

Three Kingston area junior tennis players have earned sponsorships to the New York State Jaycees tournament July 8-9 in Kingston, with victories in weekend eliminations at Forsyth Park.

Winners in the Jaycees District 2 (Division 2) competition were:

Boys 18 and Under—Francis (Frank) Kruszenski.

Boys 16 and Under — Dave Roberts.

Girls 18 and Under — Pat Boyd.

Kruszenski, a Kingston High School varsity star, won handily over Dale Van Baasbeek in the 18-and-under finals, 6-1, 6-0. A KHS teammate, Dave Roberts turned back Ross Andersen of Greenville, 6-2, 6-0, in the 16-and-under finals.

Pat Boyd defeated her younger sister, Kathy Boyd, 6-3, 6-3, in a well played finale for girls 18-and-under.

Brother Beats Brother

Peter Boyd won over his brother, Jim Boyd, 6-4, 6-2 for the 14-and-under championship. There were several exciting matches in this division.

In the first round, Peter Boyd defeated Solomon Edwards, 6-0, 6-0; Robert Darling won over Ricky Haltermann, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2; Jim Boyd defeated Peter Fowler, 6-1, 6-1; and Bryan Haltermann topped Jim Grover, 6-3, 6-3.

Pete Boyd eliminated Robert Darling, 6-0, 6-0, in the semifinals, while Jim Boyd was taking the measure fo Bryan Haltermann, 9-7, 8-6.

Winners and runnersup in each division were awarded trophies presented by the newly formed Kingston Tennis Association. All three winners in the upper divisions will be jointly sponsored by the Kingston Tennis Association and Jaycees in the state tournament in Kingston.

The most hotly contested matches came in the Boys 14-and-under division, from which group will emerge the contenders for Jaycees and other tournaments in the future.

The 14-year-olds displayed exceptional skill and promise. Spectators and tennis officials were unanimous in their belief that from this group of youngsters will come the future tennis greats in local, state and perhaps national competitions.

Back '9' Haunts Arnie

Casper Beats Palmer In Playoff, 69-73

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Newly crowned U.S. Open champion Billy Casper will pass up the British Open next month to play in a church event.

"My wife and I were recently converted to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), and it has brought me a new inner strength," the 34-year-old champion said.

"Golf isn't the most important thing in my life now as it used to be."

Casper changed his religious affiliation late last year and on Jan. 1 was baptized by the Mormons. After tying Arnold Palmer with a tremendous comeback on Sunday, he made an 80-mile trip to take part in a church fireside program at Petaluma, Calif.

He plans to play in the Mormon tournament at Salt Lake City, Utah, which precludes his going to Muirfield, Scotland, for the British Open July 6-8.

Casper captured his second Open championship with some great putting for a one-under-par 69 in Monday's playoff while Palmer duplicated his collapse of Sunday and shot a 73 after leading by two strokes at the end of nine holes at the Olympic Club course. They tied at 278.

Will Give Tithe

That brought a $25,000 top prize for Billy plus $1,500 as his share of the playoff proceeds, and he'll tithe—give 10 per cent to the church.

In 1959, Casper weighed 220 when he won the title at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y., but two years ago he went on an exotic diet to combat an allergy condition and slimmed to 175. He breakfasted on swordfish and sliced tomatoes before going out to meet Palmer.

He went a stroke down at the fourth hole when Arnie dropped an 18-foot putt and lost another stroke at the next hole when his drive hit a tree. A six-foot birdie putt cut the margin to one at the eighth, but he three-putted the ninth, the first time he had done it in this tournament.

The key to victory came at the 11th, where Billy dropped a 25-footer for a birdie while Palmer missed from four feet to even the match.

Then at 13, Casper rammed home a 35-foot putt for another birdie and took the lead.

Palmer's collapse reached full proportions as he shot two bogeys and a double bogey on the next three holes.

"The 11th where I bogeyed and Bill made the putt was the turning point," Palmer said. "This round was an experience I haven't had. I thought I was not hiting bad shots but getting bad results."

The Nightmare—Again

On the final nine, a dream for Casper and a nightmare for Arnie, the winner gained 13 strokes over his foe on the final two rounds. He had started the second nine trailing by seven strokes and fighting to assure himself the runner-up spot.

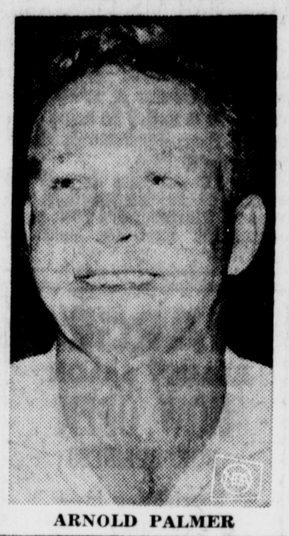

"When Arnie slipped on Sunday, I was charging and ready. When he left the door ajar a crack, I was able to slip in" said the champion from San Diego, who ironically represents a tennis club. Originally, he signed with Peacock Gap Golf Club near San Francisco but when it was sold, his affiliation stayed with its tennis facility.

Immediately after his victory, Casper left for Chicago, where he will seek to defend his Western Open title later this week. Palmer, who will play in the British Open, doesn't yet know about the Western. He has some dental work coming up first.

Casper's putting made the big difference but he said, "This was a course you cannot charge, you have to romance it a little bit and play position. I tried to hit higher than usual and let the ball float in with the wind."

Glasco A.C. Wins 5th Straight, 11-0

Glasco A.C. streaked to their fifth straight victory by downing Dale's Sunoco, 11-0 in a Saugerties Softball League game.

Bill Fiscaletti racked up his third straight shutout in pitching a three-hitter. Bill has been pretty stingy with the hits this season, allowing only six in his last three games.

Glasco displayed the muscle that helps make them league leaders as Rich Marelli slammed a home run and Fiscaletti had a double and a triple Leroy Lasher had a perfect night for the winners, 3-3 as did Fiscaletti.

Lime Rock Plans Racing Finals Independence Day

The nation's top Sports Car Club of America road race champions will compete in 10 events on the famous 1.5 mile Lime Rock, Conn. for the national championship July 4 beginning at 10 a. m.

The three day event will begin on Saturday, July 2 with practicing and timing for grid positions for Monday's races. Following the qualifying sessions on Saturday night there will be an open party at the track barn on the race track property.

Sunday there will be an open house at the Stagecoach Hill Inn in Sheffield, Mass., and the new Swiss Hutte in Hillsdale.

A highlight of the day's activity will be the motorcycle road races at the new scramble track in Millerton.

A field of over 250 is expected and for many of these top drivers it will mark their only appearance in the area this year.

Promised entries to date include 4 Lola T-70 sports racers driven by Bob Bucher, Shem Decker, Mark Donohue and Jerry Crawford, a team effort from the famous Yenko racing group of Cannonsburg, Pa. headed by the Corvair Stinger of Dr. Dick Thompson, at least a half dozen 2 liter modifieds including Doug Revson, Skip Barber, Candy DaMota, Sy Kaback, and a complete field of open cockpit formula machines.

Navajos Edge Mohawks, 27-1

The Navajos ruled supreme in the Metropolitan Krothole League, slamming 15 hits to blast the Mohawks, 27-1.

Joe Gruberg was the hitting star for the winner going 4-5 with three doubles and a tremendous center field homer that still might be in the air. Don Winters also slammed three doubles.

There was the usual variety of pitchers with Ed Glynn winding up with the win. Bill Martin had the misfortune to pitch against the firedup Navajos and took the loss. The pitching was spread out between five hurlers and they fanned 28 batters between them.

Winters did the catching for the Navajos and Bob Edge and John McCardle shared the duties for the Mohawks.

Drysdale Charged With Ninth Loss; Astros Win, 4-2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somebody played Taps for the Braves at Atlanta, but the only guy that got buried was in Houston.

The guy was Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who admitted after his fifth straight loss — a 4-2 defeat by the Astros — that every loss was geting him deeper in rouble.

"When they get you down, whether you're a pitcher or a hitter, they try to bury you," Drysdale said as he rested on a training table with an icepack on his arm. "But it's just one of those things. You just try to batle out of it. They don' give you anything."

Last Won May 30

They haven't given Drysdale anything since May 30 when he won his last game. Since then he has been pounded for 22 runs in 37 innings — a 5.35 earned run average — while his record for the season has plummeted to 4-9.

Meanwhile, at Atlanta, a fan in the center field seats pulled out his trumpet during batting practice and serenaded the Braves, who had lost three straight games, with his rendition of Taps.

They may have him do it every night.

The Braves got two homers from Gene Oliver and one from Joe Torre and belted Philadelphia 7-5.

The St. Louis Cardinals knocked off the New York Mets 4-2 in the only other National League game scheduled.

In the American League, Washington downed Cleveland 4-2, the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 3-1 and California topped Minnesota 5-3.

Drysdale, who lost only 12 games all last season while posting 23 victories, was touched for seven hits before he came out in the eighth inning when the Astros struck for two runs and broke a 2-2 tie.

Protests Filed By Hurley Club

Gary Schatzel pitched a 1-hitter and climaxed a 4-run rally with a triple to lead Knights of Columbus to a 4-0 win over Elks Lodge in the Babe Ruth League.

Kiwanis topped Hurley, 6-3, in a game completed under protest by Hurley. Reason for the Hurley protest was not announced.

The only hit off Schatzel was a single by Frank Rahm. Knights had four hits off Fred Kachura, with Schatzel adding a single to his triple.

Each team collected five hits in the Kiwanis-Hurley contest. John Fitzgerald was credited with the win in relief of Nick Ascienzo. Don Fisher took the loss.

Ascienzo's double was the only extra baser. Mike Jordan and Don Fisher had two singles each.

Ozark Hanover Feature Winner At Monticello

MONTICELLO — Ozark Hanover may have been the smallest horse in the featured race at Monticello Raceway but he was covering the most ground. When it was all over, little Ozark was a handy winner in 2:06, attesting to the fact horses don't have to be big to be winners.

Owned by driver Earle Smith and his wife, Joan, of nearby Newburgh, Ozark Hanover made his winning move going up the back-stretch the second time. Smith had to send the four-year-old son of Star's Pride-Olivia three wide, something drivers don't care to do because of the extra distance involved, but it paid off.

Smith had Ozark away alertly and found room in the first turn to drop into the three slot. Clint Hodgins was in front with Old Flame while Joe MacDonald occupied the two spot with Single Valley.

The order remained pretty much the same until the field charged up the backstretch except that Jack Adams had moved Fedoran up to challenge Old Flame. Smith, a former blacksmith, had tiny Ozark right on Adam's back.

Makes the Decision

Approaching the three quarter marker, Smith made the three wide decision and Ozark responded gamely. Middle way around the last turn, he had zipped off to a length lead and increased it to nearly three at the wire. Lofty Hanover came from far back for Levi Harner to land the place spot while Sprint closed steadily with Ebby Gerry, Jr. up to finish third. The time was 2:06, a new record of Ozark.

For the little brown victor, it was his first visit to the winner's enclosure this year. In five previous starts, he posted one second and three thirds. He returned $8.40, 3.80 and 2.80 across the board.

The 2 and 3 daily double paid $16.40. Don't Disturb in the first and Vernon Burton in the second. Twin double returned $8,303.80. Winning combination was 5-2-2-3. There were three live tickets.

The perfecta paid $32.40. Winning combination was 7-5.

A crowd of 3,724 was on hand to wager $266,346.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Football Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama collapsed today just as he began a speech at the annual Pepperdine College coaching clinic.

Pirates Pounce On Giants, 5-2

The VFW Pirates scored four runs in the last three innings to down the Callanan Giants, 5-2, in a National Little League game.

Bill Schoonmaker supplied the muscle for the winners with a double. Bill's the catcher on the team and always seems to come up with a few hits, usually for extra bases.

Larry Woerner paced the Giants, going 2-3.

Bruce Stalter got the win with the catching of Schoonmaker. Ron Dreiser fanned 10 Pirates but took the loss. Ken Kouhoupt caught for the Giants.

Big Yacht Limps To Shore After Loss of Rudder

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Toy, the 73-foot yacht that ran adrift 230 miles offshore on the third day of the Newport, R.I.-Bermuda race after losing her rudder and radio antenna, was believed to be struggling toward port today while the remainder of the huge fleet sailed past the halfway mark in th 635-mile ocean voyage.

Coast Guard planes and the cutter Campbell failed to locate Big Toy, sailed by owner James B. Turner of St. Petersburg, Fla., Monday night but the big, fiberglass vessel, contacted earlier in the day by another yacht, was not believed to be in serious trouble.

Bolero, Good News, Germania VI, Ticonderoga and Kialoa II were the leaders, with the main body of the fleet approximately 80 miles behind. Strong breezes of about 20 knots helped the boats make considerable headway Monday after they had been hampered by light winds and poor weather the previous day.

Eagles Dominate Wrens Team, 22-1

The Eagles swooped from high in the sky to destroy the Wrens, 22-1 in a Jaycee Little League game.

Craig Struble was the chief culprit, getting three doubles in five times at bat. The whole team jacked their averages including winning pitcher John Machoine who also had three hits.

Machoine chucked a strong game, striking out ten and allowing only two hits. Of course, that 17 run lead the Eagles gave him in the second tended to ease the pressure somewhat.

Jim Corsones was one of several Wren pitchers that tried to stem the tide. He was charged with loss. Mark Ferraro tried catching for the Wrens. It was pretty tough since just about everything his pitchers threw in got belted out again. Mike Kuehn caught for the Eagles.

Steve Van Kleeck had a double for the winners as did Randy Port for the losers.

Terry Allred pitched the two-hitter but was charged with the loss George Fatum and Mike Palladino shared the mound duties for the Tigers and according to the report of the game shared the victory. Port did the catching for the Braves and Allen Olsen caught for the Tigers.

3 Bros. Edge Montafia, 7-6

The Three Brothers Egg Farm squad had a scare thrown into them by the Montafia Insurance team in the Esopus Little League but rallied for a run in the bottom of the sixth to pull the game out, 7-6.

It was not reported how the Eggmen won the game nor how many in a row they have won. Currently the Rondout Bank holds the longest Little League win streak with eight straight.

Tony DeCicco, a handy guy to have on your side, went 3-3 including a double. He also pitched a steady game but took the loss.

Harry Brink fanned 13 of the hard swinging Montafia boys and picked up the win. Nick Galizia and John Robinson paced the winners' attack, both going 2-3 with a double.

Joe Badalamenti did the catching for Montafia and also slammed a double. Galizia caught for the Eggmen.

Provenzano Called the Shot On Randall's Birdie at No.1

Five Wins Buoy American Hopes At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Five victories in the opening round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships have buoyed American hopes for success in the Davis Cup.

George MacCall, nonplaying captain of the American team, watched Dennis Ralston, Cliff Richey, Clark Graebner, Charlie Pasarell and Marty Riessen all advance on Monday and he was delighted with the showing.

"All these boys are in good form," MacCall smiled. "If their record over recent months is studied, the World will see that we are very much in contention for the Davis Cup this year."

MacCall must pick a team to play Mexico at Cleveland in the American Zone Cup Playoffs Aug. 13-15.

"I think there's going to be a dog fight for those Davis Cup places," MacCall said. "The selection is wide open."

Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., defeated Robert Lutz of San Francisco 7-5, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Richey, of Dallas, Tex., won a tough duel with Britain's Graham Stilwell, 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 15-13.

Graebner, of Beachwood, Ohio, downed 1962 Wimbledon finalist Martin Mulligan of Australia, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Pasarell, of Santurce, Puerto Rico, hammered Peter Pokorny of Austria, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Riessen, of Evanston, Ill., got a walkover. His opponent, Barry Phillips-Moore of Australia, failed to show up.

Australia's Roy Emerson, aiming for this third straight Wimbledon title, had an easy 6-0, 6-1, 6-2 passage against Harry Fauquier of Canada.

Fred Stolle, the lanky Australian who has lost in three Wimbledon finals running, also showed impressive form in disposing of Ingo Buding of West Germany, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

These two could be defending the Davis Cup for Australia again. But MacCall said, "We could well have the edge over them this time. "Graebner has beaten Roy Emerson three times in seven months. And Pasarell has not lost in his last four matches against Emerson and Stolle — and they were all on grass."

The player MacCall would probably like to have most may be unavailable. That would be now serving a tour of active duty with the U. S. Army.

"He comes out Aug. 4," ac-Call said. "Then he'll have to wait for his recall. We'll just have to hope that he is available — at least for one match."

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

It's been said a million times before but bear repeating. There is nothing deadlier than a hot putter in golf. Billy Casper and Leon Randall proved it convincingly Sunday at the two ends of the continent.

Coming off a modest front nine 37 at Twaalfskill, Randall gave no evidence of the charge that was to follow. At the end of 63 holes, he was tied with Bill Van Aken, three strokes behind Harvey Bostic, two behind George Hughes.

It all started with a crucial 8-footer on the first green — that graveyard of many a putter.

John S. Provenzano, who is psychic about Randall's golf game, called it on the spot.

"They're not going to beat Randall after that," said John. They didn't.

About Close Finishes

Closest Herdegen finish was in the 54-hole 1961 event when Hughes won with 211. Alvin Boice had 212 and Le Randall 213 . . . in 1953, Van Aken (287) beat Hughes and Boice by a shot . . . Leon Randall and Buzzy Costello tied with 292 in 1963 and third place Ricky Barthel was 23 tsrokes away at 315 . . . The 66-hole standings: Randall 268, Bostic, Hughes, Van Aken, 269, was unprecedented in Herdegen annals . . .

Chips and Putts: Nobody murdered the former "pie holes" at Twaalfskill — 4th and 7th. There were fewer birdies than ever before and driving the No. 4 green was rare . . . Van Aken who had a truly bizarre card, bagged the only eagle-3 on No. 7. He beat tremendous odds in scoring successive birdies on the No. 3 hole at Twaalfskill; also birdied No. 6. Two bogies — 5s on 9 and a 6 on No. 5 proved his undoing . . From tee to green, he was superb . . Really big ones: Bill Cutler, State U. player, an incredible "11" on the No. 4 hole at Shawangunk, where State U. coach Doug Sheppard compiled 17 (10-7) on the first hole.

Twaalfskill rooters thought Hughes might have gone all the way but for a disastrous double-bogie "6" on the No. 8 hole he normally eats for breakfast . . . Randall's No. 5 Herdegen triumph puts him at the top of the heap. He also won a free ride in the Wiltwyck Invitational.

Course conditions were superb at the four participating layouts — Wiltwyck, Woodstock, Shawangunk and Twaalfskill. The post-tournament luncheon at Twaalfskill was voted unanimous approval by such celebrated gourmets as Ralph Gardner, Alex Gerlak, Brian Smith and Harold Van Aken . . . The tournament format will be altered next year . . . First change is automatic qualification for all players who finished in prize list this year . . . The tournament was the greatest, pardon the cliche, and proved that reciprocity between area golf clubs is possible and welcomed.

Ortiz Retains Title Stopping Bizzarro in 12th

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Carlos Ortiz switches from face punching to baby kissing today as he hustles home to the Bronx to begin his political campaign after stopping Johnny Bizzarro in the 12th round of his latest lightweight title defense.

"I am going to take boxing gloves with me to show the people I will be a fighting senator," said the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker who is running for the New York State Senate in the 29th District primary June 28

"I am going to emphasize the miseries I went through, the way I used to live in poverty and the way my people are mistreated," said Ortiz. "I am going to make speeches all over my district."

Ortiz also made a short talk Monday night at the Civic Arena after he stopped Bizzarro on a technical knockout in 2:29 of the 12th.

"I knew I would catch up with him," said the 135-pound champ. "I had hurt him with body punches. He really was hurt. The referee did the right thing to stop it. He used very good judgment."

Referee John (Buck) McTiernan stepped between the two men when the challenger from Erie, Pa., came up wobbly after taking a mandatory eight-count. Bizzarro had been shaken up with several punches before he finally went down.

Had To Stop It

"He was standing there with his hands down," said McTiernan. "I had to stop it."

Bizzaro, 133 3-5, disagreed. "I think he could have let us go a little longer," he said.

Ortiz, 135, held a narrow lead on the three official cards—51-49 by referee McTiernan, 52-50 by judge Ernie Sesto and 50-49 by judge Paddy Grimes. The AP had it even 51-51, with Ortiz coming on.

Ortiz has ambitions to move into the welter class but is willing to defend his lightweight crown against Flash Elorde (in New York or Manila) or against Sugar Ramos (in Los Angeles or Mexico City).

Teddy Brenner, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, hopes to convince Ortiz to box Elorde or Frankie Narvaez in the Garden next fall when Carlos' political campaign may be at its height.

The promotion laid an egg. The crowd of 4,204 paid $31,000. Ortiz had been guaranteed $41,000 and Bizzarro $3,850. Ortiz also was to get half of the television money from a 60-station network. That might come to another $7,500. It was estimated the promoters dropped about $21,000.

Fakirs—the word means "needy person" in Arabic for man's spiritual need of God — are common to all creeds in India. They are usually regarded as holy men who possess miraculous powers, such as walking on fire. They are not influential in urban areas since the industrial revolution and the spread of education, but in the interior and in the villages they still retain some hold over the people.

Mudcat Grant Sings the Blues; Angels Win, 5-3

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Mudcat doesn't have his Kittens anymore, but he still has reason to howl.

The California Angels tamed the Mudcat, Jim Grant, for the third time this season as they defeated Minnesota 5-3 Monday night.

Grant was not happy with the decision that dropped his record to 5-9, a far cry from his 21-7 record last year that helped put the Twins into the World Series and himself on the stage with a musical act called Mudcat and the Kittens.

"I think I've pitched better this year than last, and I think my earned run average proves it," Grant said. "But you saw what happened—it's happened to me a lot this year."

What happened was that Tony Oliva dropped a fly ball with two on in the seventh inning, giving the Angels two unearned runs.

Grant is correct as far as his ERA is concerned. His present mark of 3.26 is lower than his final ERA of 3.30 in 1965 and the 3.68 he had at this time last year when he also had a 6-2 record.

After pitching the Twins to the American League pennant and winning two games in the Series, Grant toured the country and appeared on television with the Kittens. When contract signing time came, he also held out for $50,000.

He finally agreed to a salary of slightly more than $35,000 but not until March 15, which was well into spring training. However, the 30-year-old right-hander doesn't think the holdout has hurt him.

"Missing part of the spring training has nothing to do with it," he said. "I won the first game of the season, and I thought I pitched well then. But I seem to have gotten a lot of bad breaks."

His bad break Monday night came after Tom Satriano and Paul Schaal singled with one out in the seventh. Pinch hitter Willie Smith then lofted a long fly to center field, but Oliva dropped it, and two runs scored for a 3-3 tie.

Smith wound up at second and quickly scored the decisive run on Ed Kirkpatrick's single.

In other AL games Washington defeated Cleveland 4-2 and Chicago topped Kansas City 3-1.

Gov. Reed Gets GOP Nomination In Maine Primary

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Gov. John H. Reed, renominated in the Republican primary, headed today for a state election battle with an aggressive young secretary of state.

Secretary Kenneth M. Curtis had two Democratic primary opponents but racked up nearly as big a percentage of the total vote as did the Republican governor.

Reed got approximately 60 per cent of the total vote in his primary; Curtis about 55 per cent in his.

Reed, chairman of the National Governors' Conference and a potato grower and shipper in private life, defeated State Rep. Jams S. Erwin, an attorney who attacked his record as too much like the Democratic program. Both are 45 years old.

Curtis, 35, a lawyer, trounced Senate President Carlton D. Reed Jr. and House Speaker Dana W. Childs.

A political figure who was not involved in either primary loomed large in the future of every major candidate.

U.S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith was unopposed for the Republican nomination for her fourth six-year term.

Pilotless, it screamed across the flat tide water landscape and crashed into Old Buckroe Road, shattering houses in its fiery path.

"I heard a woman screaming as she ran across a yard with a baby in her arms," Hardin said. "A man followed her out of the house with blood streaming from his face."

Found Burning Debris

When they got to their own home — at 503 Smiley Road — the Hardins found a landscape of burning debris.

"Part of the fuel pump was in my back yard," Hardin said. "A steel pipe was embedded in our roof. Part of the bearing case from a jet engine had knocked down part of a trellis in the front yard but left a light bulb on top of the trellis intact."

Robert Young, 22, a technician for the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., was visiting with his family at his parents' home just a few blocks away when the jet crashed.

"It was the most horrible thing I have ever seen," he said.

E. W. Riss was coming from an Army Reserve meeting when he happened to look skyward.

"I saw a flare, like a big silver ball at first," he said. "Then there was an explosion, and I saw debris floating slowly down."

"I was coming out the front door of my house at the time it hit, said Ronald Beasley, 26, a shipyard worker. "I heard this big noise and this great big ball of flame rose up from the ground and kept rising as tall as three or four houses. It hung there a second and then there was just fire everywhere."

Investigation of the case began when the victim's brother told neighbors in Brooklyn that Victor had disappeared. Search for Rickard extended throughout the country until authorities eventually learned that he had signed up as a seaman aboard a cargo ship bound for India.

Extradition proceedings were instituted and with the cooperation of Indian government officials, Rickard was taken into custody at Madras, India, and returned here by Senior Investigator Michael Lisman of the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Assistant District Attorney Robert A. The resolution calls for appointment of a county planning director and one Republican and one Democratic member of the Board of Supervisors as ex-officio members of the County Sewer Agency. Buying Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Insurance companies across the nation report that millions of elderly Americans are buying additional health insurance to supplement medicare benefits.

"The complementary policies are selling very well, exceeding our expectations in many areas," said one insurance executive, Walter J. McNerney of Chicago, president of Blue Cross Associated.

Some of the nearly 200 mutual and commercial health insurance companies are dropping out of the over-65 field by not writing any more insurance on the elderly.

But most are expected to offer policies to help meet the portion of health insurance costs not covered by medicare when it starts July 1.

To Check Wheat Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has directed Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to further investigate next year's supply and demand of wheat.

Johnson's action Monday suggested the possibility that the government may increase the U. S. wheat acreage allotment for the 1968 crop. The President announced in May a 15 per cent increase in the 1967 allotment.

To Introduce Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, says he hopes to bring to the House floor soon a bill authorizing expenditure of $3.3 billion for foreign assistance programs over a two-year period.

The committee approved the bill Monday by a 28-7 vote. It was the first time it has approved an administration foreign aid request for more than one year. The bill also contains an authorization for $550 million earmarked for use in Viet Nam.

Capitol Footnotes

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, says a final committee vote on a $1-billion plus military construction authorization bill may not come until next week. Walter Patrick McConaughy, a career diplomat, has been sworn in as U. S. ambassador to Nationalist China. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker John W. McCormack predict a speedup in congressional action.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has urged adoption of reforms before 1968 to end "a thoroughly disgraceful spectacle" at national political convention.

Court Upholds Two Convictions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Appellate Division of State Supreme Court upheld today the convictions of Anthony Cuty and Marie Rockefeller, who were found guilty two years ago of embezzling $45,000 from Memorial Hospital in Massena.

Cuty, former hospital director, and Mrs. Rockefeller, former office manager, were convicted on Sept. 14, 1963, by a St. Lawrence County Court jury on charges of first degree grand larceny and conspiracy.

Cuty was sentenced to serve 5 to 10 years at Clinton Prison, Dannemora, and Mrs. Rockefeller to serve 3 to 10 years at the women's prison at Bedford Hills.

Cuty and Mrs. Rockefeller resigned from the hospital staff shortly before an audit by the State Department of Audit and Control revealed a shortage.

Saugerties Adds

Nowakowski on West Bridge Street; pointed out that this was the second tree that has fallen on property there in less than a year.

The Board explained that the trees in question are located on property which is privately owned and over which trustees have no jurisdiction. Promising to pursue the matter further, however, members said they would contact Village Attorney Daniel N. Lamb to study the possibility of drawing up local ordinances which would allow the village to enter upon private property to remedy dangerous and hazardous conditions where they exist.

Patrolmen Appointed

Police Commissioner Charles W. Steele Jr., announced the appointment of two probational patrolmen to the local police force. They are: Stanley S. Kiebart, of Cementon, and Howard E. Bowers Jr., 8 Village Drive, Saugerties. Steele also praised Sgt. Gordon Keeley; said he has been doing a "fine job" taking charge of the police department for the past two months, since the retirement of Police Chief Harold Mills.

Commissioner Steele also made it evident that his department and other local officials are becoming increasingly concerned over acts of vandalism and rowdy behavior on the part of local youngsters. Moving-up Day in Saugerties recently resulted in a near riot between members of the senior and junior classes at Saugerties High School, and other unconnected incidents have caused damage locally. Steele said a meeting has been called for this Thursday for members of the local police department, Police Justice David Goble, Mayor Cornelius M. Cox and himself, as commissioner, to discuss various police matters, with particular emphasis on matters involving juveniles and local school students.

Sectional pride came to the fore when Trustee Gregory A. Mulstay announced for the record that he will not participate in the Fourth of July parade in the village. He cited as his reason the fact that the line of march will not pass through the south side of the village.

As a resident of that section of the village and because both the Washington Hook and Ladder Company and the C. A. Lynch Hose Company, south side fire company, have refused to march for the same reason, Mulstay is boycotting the parade. Lynch Company has not participated in the parade for three years because of this routing by the Saugerties Jaycees, sponsoring organization, and Washington Hook and Ladder is bowing out for the first time this year.

Mattes Made Exempt

In other business Monday night, the Board granted a fireman's certificate to Kenneth Mattes Jr., who is entitled to become an exempt after serving five years in the Washington Hook and Ladder Company. The board also accepted invitation from John Keeley Jr., president of the Saugerties Softball League, to attend dedication ceremonies this Saturday at 7:45 p. m. at Cantine Field. At that time, new lighting facilities on the softball field will be donated to the Town of Saugerties.

Fire Commissioner Donald R. McCaig reported that fire warden inspections should be completed this weekend; said he will meet with the fire chiefs next week to review these inspections. He also noted that the annual inspection of the fire department by Mayor Cox and the Village Board will take place July 4 at 9 p. m. in front of the municipal building. He invited the public to attend.

McCaig also lauded Joseph Schaffer, former captain of Washington Hook and Ladder Company, on his recent election as second vice president of Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association. Schaffer was elected at the recent convention held at Newburgh and Saugertesians, said McCaig, should recognize the fact that this is a great honor of the village. Residents should feel proud, he said, that one of their own has been chosen for a responsible position in a large area which runs from Fort Ticonderoga on the north to Westchester County on the South.

The Board also granted permission to the Saugerties Jaycees, upon the request of Anthony Francello, general chairman of the Jaycees Fourth of July celebration, to hold a parade in the village on July 4. Francello's request for police assistance in leading and directing the parade was also granted.

Board members acknowledged a number of complaints from West Bridge Street residents that trucks are using the street as a by-pass through the village and that many cars are guilty of excessive speeds in the area. The Board promised closer police surveillance along the street.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in liveller trading early this afternoon.

Stocks were listless and mixed at the start but selective improvement spread and this attracted more buyers from the sidelines.

Analysts saw the market as going through a "base-building" process in advance of a summer rally which is generally expected.

Some hesitation in early trading was linked with news that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant plans to visit Moscow later this summer. The Viet Nam conflict is expected to be a major topic in his talks with Soviet leaders.

Sentiment was dampened by news that housing starts in May had fallen to their lowest level in nearly 3½ years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 321.7 with industrials up 1.3, rails off .2 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.06 at 895.82.

hand and was treated at Kingston Hospital.

The blaze involved nearby brush and trees, and along with the two 2½-inch lines used on the barn fire, one of 1¼-inch was used as a "watch line."

A call at 7:05 p. m. was for a fire in a one-story frame garage at the rear of 85 Garden Street, which firemen said was heavily involved in flame when they arrived. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Excelsior Company were mobilized with Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge. The property is owned by the Ulster County Welfare Department.

Another Call

Another call at 5:31 p. m. was for an overheated automatic dryer at the East O'Reilly Street Laundromat owned by William Bodenweber, of 49 West O'Reilly Street. It was checked by firemen from Central Station with pressurized water.

A police report at 12:55 a. m. today noted the arrest of Frank Whittaker, 30, who police said had no home, on a charge of sounding a false alarm from Box 2131, Hasbrouck Avenue and Mill Street. City Judge Hubert A. Richter today sentenced Whittaker to 45 days in jail.

said. "Our whole back yard was lit up.

"We ran to the front. Everywhere we looked, we saw houses burning. We heard that one whole family — mother, father and several children — was wiped out, but we don't know for sure."

"I saw the children in that family playing in that yard five minutes before the crash," said Mrs. Angle's husband.

Trooper H.L. Hough of the State Police was in his cruiser about a mile away when he saw the flames leaping from the crash. He was the first officer to arrive.

Placed in Car

"People surrounded my car," he said, "and placed three injured people — a man, a woman and an infant several weeks old — in my car. I took them to a hospital and went back to the place. By then the ambulances and police cars were there and were taking people to hospitals, too."

The Marine bombers, out of Cherry Point, N.C., were en route to Patuxent River, Md., and had left their base at 6:30 p.m. The Fleet Marine Force Atlantic said it had no immediate explanation for the collision and that the planes were on a routine weather mission.

Moments after the pilotless bomber crashed in flames, ambulances were speeding to the area from Hampton, Newport News, Buckroe Beach, Langley AFB, Phoebus, and the counties of Northampton and York.

Rescue squadmen, doctors, detachments from Langley and Ft. Monroe, and firemen hurried in. By the time they arrived, hundreds of persons had gathered to watch the holocaust.

Smell of Smoke

The garish glare of floodlights bathed the scene and the smell of smoke and charred, wet wood filled the air.

Utility wires dangled from poles. Police and firemen continued to search the burned-out wreckage of the demolished houses.

A half-house stood forlornly. From front to back it had been split evenly, almost exactly in half. In the exposed kitchen, a stove and the sink stood unscathed.

Flames from the fires set by the crashed bomber leaped so high thyey were seen miles away. Heavy smoke, billowing into the clear and starry sky in the red glow of the flames, was seen at Newport News, 15 miles distant.

"It was the most horrible thing I've ever seen," said Robert Young, 22, a Newport News shipyard worker who was visiting the home of his parents in the Buckroe housing development.

Like Fireworks

"It was like a huge fireworks display. It was what I would imagine a bombed city to look like during wartime."

The rescued Marine fliers were 1st Lt. Charles Clark, 24, of Asheville, N.C., and 1st Lt. James Engstrom, 25, of Durham, N.C., the pilots; and bombarier-navigators Capt. James Andherst of Plankinton, S.D., and 2nd Lt. William Llewellyn of Cleveland, Ohio.

None of the four was hurt.

some senators, including Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, that the United States might want to reduce its forces in Europe.

"There are indeed many pressures for reducing the size of these forces, a size which was determined in earlier years under different conditions," he said.

Among the legitimate pressures he listed:

Money Is Factor

"The continuing adverse effect on our balance of payments of maintaining more than 200,000 men in Germany cannot be ignored."

"There is the fact that our Western European friends have recovered their prosperity, their strength and their consequent ability to put into the field larger forces than in the past."

"There is, also, the rapidly increasing airlift and sealift capacity of the U.S. defense establishment, requiring us to revise our traditional ideas about the time and effort required to put major combat forces into the field at widely different places around the globe."

These pressures, he said, "must be seriously considered, as a matter of joint responsibility within the alliance as well as a matter of U.S. policy."

But he added they will not have a substantial effect "upon the over-all combat capability of U.S. forces in Europe, upon our strategy, or upon the security of the alliance as a whole."

slightly more than 19 million, largest in the nation.

From stormy Watts in Los Angeles to the quiet northern redwoods, much of the current planning to cope with a growing population seems to be racing with no finish line in sight.

Some of the programs include:

—The $2-billion state water project, approved by voters in 1960 to bring water from wet northern California to the arid south through 1990.

—The master plan for higher education, designed to expand the 18 state colleges and nine University of California branches with new campuses to handle hundreds of thousands of students.

—Rapid transit, already begun in the San Francisco Bay area with preliminary studies approved by the Legislature this year for Los Angeles.

Other plans involve smog control, freeways, conservation and business. Private firms continue to grow although aerospace shutdowns in the past in San Diego and Sacramento have caused problems for those cities' expanded populations.

"The fact is we're a growing, balanced economy," Hollmann said.

tial role that the United States has to play" in the world, he said, France thinks that the first condition for world progress "is the re-establishment in Europe of fertile unity instead of having Europe paralyzed by sterile division."

It is up to France and the Soviet Union to start trying to solve European problems, particularly the problem of Germany, he said.

France wants to find a "way out of this vicious circle" of East-West confrontation and seeks to "begin establishing new relations pursuing the aim of detente, accord and cooperation with the so-called East European states."

Soviet President Podgorny, also speaking at the banquet honoring De Gaulle, said he is convinced France and the Soviet Union can agree on the situation in Europe and other areas "especially those where the flames of war are raging today." He obviously meant Viet Nam.

De Gaulle paid a formal call on Podgorny two hours after he arrived and later called on Kosygin. The French president also is expected to talk with Brezhnev.

Good Growth Stocks Will Offer Protection

Q) "Soon I will be retiring with Social Security and a good pension. I have over $50,000 in savings and $16,000 in Series E bonds. I realize I am not protected against inflation and would like your advice as to what to do." C. A.

A) I am glad to see you so well situated for retirement. It is perfectly true that fixed income investments cannot enhance your capital and protect you against inflation. Well situated real estate and stocks, growing faster in all ways than the dollar is depreciating, are your best means of protection. For most people, real estate investment brings problems they cannot handle. Common stocks, properly selected, are probably your best medium for giving long-term inflation protection. Since all stocks fluctuate, I stress long-term protection.

On a short-term basis, you might well see a decline which—temporarily—would have the reverse effect of what you are striving for. I would retain all E bonds on which accruals have been raised to a 4.15 per cent basis. I advise you to put $20,000 into such strong growth issues as Consolidated Foods; Owens-Illinois; Sears, Roebuck; Borden.

Q) "I am a woman with no income. I have received about $25,000 in insurance from my brother's estate. My health is not good and at my age I can't get work. How can I obtain the maximum income from this $25,000, to pay my living expenses?" A. C.

A) You have my deepest sympathy on your difficult situation. Since you appear to have no dependents, I believe your best move would be to consult a good insurance company and ask what you would receive as a guaranteed income on a $20,000 straight life annuity. I would retain $5,000 as a savings reserve.

Your return from both these sources should bring your income up to around $150 a month. This seems inadequate, but you can do no better, I'm sorry to say.

than 1,000 of the 1,400 to 2,000 Red troops opposing them.

A military spokesman said the new battle resulted from an American sweep operation named Nathan Hale. Monday the Viet Cong attacked paratroop units in an open valley and airborne cavalrymen were rushed in as reinforcements.

During the night the combined American force hit fortified enemy positions. At least a battalion of hard-core Viet Cong was reported dug in and ready.

Heavy Fighting

Heavy fighting continued through the night and today, the spokesman reported.

Both Operation Hawthorne, which produced the Kontum ridge battle, and Nathan Hale are part of the continuing American effort to prevent organization of a Communist monsoon offensive in the highlands.

The highland battle some 230 miles northeast of Saigon was the only signicant land fighting reported, but U.S. Air Force and Navy planes directed heavy blows at the Communists north and south of the 17th Parallel.

B52s from Guam rained bombs on a Viet Cong troop area 30 miles south of Da Nang.

The Air Force lost an F105 Thunderchief jet near Hanoi to ground fire. It had gone in to strike a fuel dump 30 miles northeast of the Red capital.

No Parachute

The Air Force spokesman reported there was no sign of a parachute from the stricken plane and efforts to contact the pilot on his rescue radio failed. He was listed as missing in action.

It was the 265th plane reported downed over North Viet Nam.

In the south, ground fire brought down a lumbering twin-engine transport on a defoliation mission along a Communist-controlled road. The crew was rescued. This was the 111th plane lost to ground fire in South Viet Nam.

Air Force pilots reported wiping out a North Vietnamese supply train of 10 water buffalo 11 miles north of the Mu Gia Pass. U.S. Marine fliers Monday reported killing a Viet Cong supply train of 11 elephants 35 miles southwest of Da Nang, in South Viet Nam.

American fliers dropped 6.4 million leaflets on two areas of North Viet Nam Monday.

It was one of the largest leaflet operations of the war.

Leaflets Dropped

One drop of a million leaflets was made near the Mu Gia Pass and warned repair workers to stay away from the supply and infiltration route.

The other 5.4 million leaflets were dropped from the 17th Parallel north to Dong Hoi and carried a poem purportedly found on the body of a North Vietnamese youth killed in battle. Written to the youth's mother, it told of home sickness and loneliness.

Navy jets from the carrier Ranger attacked a suspected nest of camouflaged torpedo boats on the North Vietnamese coast, and smoke billowed up to 12,000 feet after the raid, a spokesman said.

Navy and Air Force pilots flew 81 multiplane missions over North Viet Nam Monday, also hitting roads, trucks, radar sites and bridges.

In South Viet Nam, the U.S. Air Force flew 184 single-plane sorties, the Marines 101, the Navy 100 and the South Vietnamese 262.

Quang out of his air-conditioned hospital room in Hue a day after they placed him under virtual house arrest by stationing a guard outside and barring visitors. Although his physician described him earlier as weak and in critical condition, the monk walked alongside a military doctor to a car that took them to the headquarters of Col. Pham Ngoc Lam, head of military security and national police.

Tri Quang had masterminded the Buddhist rebellion in the northern provinces and was a leader in agitation against previous governments, including the regime of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Some American officials think his ultimate objective is establishment of a Buddhist state that could make a deal with the Communists and expel the Americans.

Began June 8

He began the hunger strike on June 8, when the rebellion began faltering, vowing to take only liquids until the United States withdrew its support of Ky and Roman Catholic chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu and both resigned.

Thich Tam Chau, the relatively moderate chairman of the Buddhist Institute, has tried to cool off Tri Quang and his extremist followers. He fled the institute compound on the outskirts of Saigon last week when the monks there rejected his appeals for a truce with the government and an end to such tactics as Buddhist family altars in the streets to obstruct traffic.

Informed sources said Tam Chau has been meeting privately with Ky to work out a solution between the government and the Unified Buddhist Church, an organization of about 1.5 million Buddhists which conducts its secular activities through the Buddhist Institute.

A dispatch from Colombo, Ceylon, said Ky had agreed to let a team of Ceylonese Buddhists look into the Buddhist-government dispute. Buddhist association in Ceylon have urged Premier Dudley Senanayake to investigate the plight of Buddhists in South Viet Nam.

New Plea for Peace

A new plea for peace by Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations won a warm Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield. The Montana Democrat said he believes Thant's three-point plan would get "every consideration from President Johnson" if the Communists gave some sign they might accept it.

Thant, calling the Vietnamese fighting "one of the most barbarous wars in history," renewed his appeal in New York Monday for (1) a halt in U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, (2) a reduction of military activities in South Viet Nam and (3) a "willingness of all sides to enter into discussions with those who are actually fighting."

The third point was a call for talks with the National Front for Liberation, the Viet Cong's political arm. The Saigon government has refused to enter such discussions, while the United States says the front can take part in a broader conference alongside the North Vietnamese.

goods as he says resulted from Korea.

To accomplish this, McNamara acknowledges he has made an arbitrary assumption that for financing purposes the war will end in June, 1967.

If the war ends then — no surplus. If it ends before then — some surplus.

But if the war appears likely to go beyond then, additional funds will have to be requested before next June.

If the war continues beyond June 1967, additional funds would have to be sought in January to maintain an uninterrupted flow of ammunition and aircraft.

Orders for bombs must be placed six months in advance. The lead time for aircraft is longer, about a year.

Heavy thunderstorms struck parts of the western Plains this morning. But most of the rest of the nation enjoyed relatively clear skies and warm temperatures — a good opening for summer which officially begins at 4:33 p.m. EDT today.

A thunderstorm with winds up to 75 miles per hour dropped a half inch of rain on Dickinson, N.D., and the Weather Bureau issued a tornado watch for much of North Dakota and parts of northern South Dakota.

Sunny skies were predicted for most of the nation although scattered showers and thundershowers were expected over the Great Plains, the Rocky Mountains and along the Gulf Coast.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 43 at Olympia, Wash., to 89 at Needles, Calif.

Local Corps Are Well Received In Orange Show

Exhibitions Saturday night at Delano Hitch Recreation stadium in Newburgh by Troop 12 Indians and the newly reorganized Empire Statesmen drum corps of Kingston brought an audience of approximately 1,500 to their feet in a rousing cheer. The exhibitions of both organizations were outstanding performances.

Also participating in the exhibition were the Fort Edward Vagabonds of Fort Edward, N. Y. and the Pacers from Poughkeepsie.

The exhibition was staged as a promotion to raise funds to send the Empire Statesmen to the American Legion Nationals in Washington on August 26-29, and also to give a preview of what type of performance is to be staged at the 12th annual Pageant by the Empire Statesmen Saturday evening at Dietz Stadium. At 8 p. m., on Saturday the same two local drum corps will give an exhibition at Dietz Stadium in addition to the five corps which will be competing in the Pageant contest.

The Troop 12 Indians, sponsored by the Old Dutch Church, is a most unusual group of young musicians who are earning a wide reputation for their work. The Empire Statesmen of Kingston are sponsored by the American Legion.

NAMED KING FOR A DAY—Second Lieut. James Wagner of Whittier, was selected as the King For A Day, in Montgomery Ward's third annual Fathers Day contest. The winner, with his wife Alice and their four children, Lynda, Timothy, Patrick and Curtis are leaving their home in a chauffeured limousine for luncheon at Dick McCarthy's Brookside Restaurant. In the evening Lieut. and Mrs. Wagner were guests of Wards for dinner at Salvucci's Restaurant, West Hurley. Nine year old Timmie submitted the following entry explaining why he thought his father was the greatest Dad in the world: "He is going to Viet Nam to help keep us all from them. He is a Marine and will go in July—we want him to have a happy Father's Day." Lieut. Wagner in the Marine Corps 14 years, received his commission and orders to report for duty in Viet Nam. This will be his second tour of duty in the Far East. Little Timmie, in addition to giving his father a wonderful day, won a new bike. In addition to the many other prizes, Lieut. Wagner won a complete summer wardrobe from Montgomery Ward.

Assembly Passes

enter a primary for statewide office by gathering 10,000 signature — at least 50 from three-quarters of the counties.

The committee vote would be weighted by district according to how the party's candidate fared in the previous gubernatorial election.

The Assembly passed the bill, 138-14, and sent it to the Senate. Its future there appeared dim, however, because that house still has not acted on an earlier primary bill passed by the Assembly.

The previous Assembly - endorsed measure would have required at least a 25 per cent vote by the party's convention, rather than its committee vote. And, it required 12,000 signatures, plus the one-quarter convention vote.

In other legislative action, the Assembly:

— Gave final legislative approval and sent to Gov. Rockefeller a measure that would establish a Natural Beauty Commission. The commission would be responsible for coordinating activities aimed at preserving or restoring the state's natural beauty. Rockefeller proposed that the group be established and thus it appears certain he will sign the bill.

— Passed, 108-44, a measure that would create a state Barbering Board. The board's members would be barbers with at least 10 years experience and would advise the Department of State on barbering examinations. The Senate had endorsed the bill earlier.

— Overrode Republican protests to pass a bill, 115-37, that would establish an "Office for the Aging" within the executive Department. Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr. defended the measure against the attack by his GOP colleagues. Duryea said the office would permit the state and local governments to take part in federal programs. Other Republicans had protested that the office would be a waste of money on the ground that similar services for the aging were offered by other agencies.

American Jerrie Mock set the record in 1964 but she took a considerably shorter route. The only other woman to circle the world was the late Joan Smith. Amelia Earhart disappeared over the Pacific during her try before World War II.

A Lovely Wedding

DETROIT (AP) — It was a lovely wedding. All the bride's children thought so. So did the bridegroom's.

All 100 of them felt just fine about Julie Ann Argy and Wilbert O'Brien Hiller being married. Miss Argy, a kindergarten teacher, and Hiller, a fourth-grade teacher, both at the Consolidated Murthan School in Warren, Mich., near Detroit, took the step Sunday after a two-year romance. They invited all their present pupils and some of last year's to witness the ceremony.

Has House Painted

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Miss Ethel Barnes, about to retire from her job as secretary to the Geneva, N.Y., Police Department, refused to accept a money gift collected among the policemen.

She also would not allow the officers to sponsor a dinner in her honor.

"We figured she couldn't refuse this," said one policeman as he and 11 other off-duty officers painted the Barnes home Monday while she was at work.

Supreme Court

unable to obtain a fair trial in state court.

Douglas wrote that the 29 rights workers arrested on various charges during a voter registration drive in 1964 in Leflore County, Mississippi, may eventually see their federal civil rights "vindicated."

In a third significant rights case, the court ruled 5 to 4 that Los Angeles police did not violate the constitutional rights of a motorist, Armando Schmerber, when they took a blood sample over his objection to try to prove he was intoxicated.

The court coupled its decision on state prosectuions with a unanimous ruling that if equal access to public accommodations — a right assured by the 1964 federal civil rights law — is involved there cannot be any prosecution, either in federal or state court.

In this second removal case, the U.S. District Court in Atlanta was directed to determine if 20 persons arrested in the spring of 1963 when they tried to ootain service in privately owned restaurants in Atlanta were ordered to leave for racial reasons alone.

The confessions rulings which henceforth apply only to trials begun after they were announced by the highcourt are these:

1. The landmark June 1964 Escobedo decision in which the Supreme Court for the first time extended the right to counsel to suspects undergoing questioning in police station houses.

2. The June 13 Miranda decision which barred trial use of incriminating statements obtained from suspects whose constitutional rights to remain silent and to have a lawyer's assistance were not safeguarded by police.

Calls on Thant

willingness on the part of all concerned to enter discussions with all participants in the fighting.

"I think it is up to U Thant to exhaust every possibility of getting the acceptance of both sides to this proposal," Mansfield said. "He should take the lead in trying to bring about a definite understanding that a conference will be held."

"We've tried stopping the bombing before and it didn't invite any response," McGee said. "On the contrary, the enemy used the lull to intensify their efforts."

He said "continued firmness, such as in Korea, may actually hasten the hard decision by the Communists to start talking."

Some senators believe the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese may have taken such a military mauling in the last few weeks that they may be more willing to talk than they have been in the past.

NEATNESS: ANOTHER PLUS FROM SMITH PARISH!
Small point to be sure—but one which Smith Parish people consider inmportant.
When a Smith Parish roofing or siding job is done, you may be sure that the premises will be left the same way they were found—if not better.
You could say that this reflects the attitude and customer consideration Smith Parish has developed over the past 34 years—and perhaps an important reason why their acceptance has been what it is.
Remember—you may pay a little more for a Smith Parish roof but you'll find as the years go by—it's well worth it.
